

Public Barred as U. N. Resumes on Congo Rocky's College Aid Headed for New Attacks

Hearing Is Slated On Friday Groups Favor High And Grade Schools

By ROBERT T. GRAY
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller's plan for state aid to students at private colleges, roundly lashed at the first of this year's budget hearings, was headed for a new round of attacks Friday.

The second and final of the 1961 hearings on Gov. Rockefeller's record $2.4-billion budget will be held Friday. Education in general and the controversial Rockefeller plan in particular will be among the topics.

The hearing will be on the $126-billion, local-assistance part of the budget.

2 Speakers Heard
The Legislature's fiscal committee is holding the hearings. The first was yesterday. About 250 persons were on hand in the Assembly chamber but only 21 of a scheduled 75 speakers appeared.

The initial hearing was to have dealt with state operations. But it quickly turned into a forum for stiff criticism of the governor's proposal for annual education grants, ranging to $200, for New York residents at private colleges within the state.

Most of the speakers represented parent-teacher and other public-school groups who argued that any extra spending for education should go to elementary and high schools, not to colleges.

No one spoke in favor of the tuition-aid plan, although several have endorsed it publicly. Roman Catholic organizations are among the chief supporters of the bill.

The governor's plan would apply to students at Catholic and other church-affiliated colleges, as well as those at other private institutions.

Delays Details
The governor, who originally had planned to submit a detailed plan to the Legislature this week, delayed action in the face of widespread criticism.

He now plans to submit the final proposal sometime next week.

In the meantime, the controversy grew.

At yesterday's hearing, the Empire State Chamber of Commerce announced it was opposed to the tuition-grant plan.

The business organization said it questioned outright grants that set no qualifications for scholastic ability or financial need.

Measure Proposes $7,500 Loan to College Students

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State students could borrow up to $7,500 each through the New York Higher Education Assistance Corp. toward the cost of their education, under a bill introduced today in the Legislature.

The measure would increase from $1,000 to $1,500 the maximum loan for one year. The total limit would be raised from $5,000 to $7,500.

The corporation was set up to help students obtain low-cost loans. Eligible students borrow from banks and the corporation guarantees repayment in the event students default.

Sen. Earl W. Byrdges, R-Niagara Falls, introduced the bill.

Tito, Ghana, Indonesia Back Gizenga's Rebel Congo Rule; Troops Are Recalled

LONDON (AP)—More Communist and pro-Lumumba nations today were lining up with the Soviet Union behind the rebel Congo government of Antoine Gizenga.

Yugoslavia, Ghana, and Indonesia—outside the Soviet orbit—announced recognition of the rump regime in Stanleyville along with East Germany, Czechoslovakia, Red China, North Viet Nam and Outer Mongolia. The United Arab Republic was the first to give formal recognition.

Indonesian Foreign Minister Subandrio said his government had sent a cable to the Congo, recalling its 1,150 troops with the U.N. force "as soon as possible."

Col. Chandler, Original Member Of Kingston Rotary, Is Honored

Col. George F. Chandler, one of the original members of Kingston Rotary Club, which was founded March 25, 1916, was honored by the local service club at its regular luncheon-meeting Wednesday. Honorary membership in the local service club was conferred upon Col. Chandler last year.

Joining in the tribute were members of the medical profession, New York Army National Guard and New York State Police. Col. Chandler served as chief of staff at Kingston Hospital for many years; his military record included service with Company M, 10th Regiment,

No New Cornell Announcement

Rondout Business Men Would Build on Tract

Early development of a cleared downtown area as proposed at a recent meeting of residents of the Fourth and Sixth wards was backed by the Rondout Area Business Men's Association at its Wednesday night meeting in Wimpy's Restaurant.

Procedure to be taken in an effort to gain occupancy by a county department or departments of the former Cornell building, was discussed, but nothing was announced as to the next move to be made.

The county some time ago bought the building and it has been proposed that it be used to house the welfare department. A Board of Supervisors vote subsequently was insufficient to authorize the welfare department to move from uptown. It has been proposed, however, that the board consider occupancy by other county departments.

Endorsed for Planning Board
The urban renewal program, as outlined, to date, was generally endorsed by the association in a letter to the planning board. It noted that the downtown organization is morally obliged to act in behalf of residents of the Rondout sector, and said the organization subscribes to the rehabilitation program that will bring higher social and living standards, and generally promote the well being of the people of the Rondout area.

Early development of housing facilities in the area off Ann and Meadow Streets, which was cleared as a phase of the Colonial Gardens project, the organization feels, will serve to build greater confidence among downtown residents in the entire urban renewal and city planning program.

Identification Is Started of Bodies In Sabena Crash

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — American and Belgian officials today began the tragic task of trying to identify 73 burned and shattered bodies, victims of Wednesday's plane disaster.

Among the rows of blanket-covered corpses were the 18 members of the U.S. team headed for the world figure skating championships and 32 other Americans.

Job for Consulate
All were killed as the Sabena Belgian Airlines Boeing 707 jet winging in from New York dove into the back yard of a small farm three miles from Brussels airport.

The bodies lay under blue blankets in an improvised Chapel of Rest in the main hall of the old Brussels airport building.

The task of identifying the bodies fell to the U.S. consulate. In many cases, only a scrap of charred clothing or a twisted wedding ring could serve as clues. Whether the bodies will be

Unions Set Parleys on Job Plans To Back Kennedy All Over Nation

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The AFL-CIO's political organization today set a nationwide series of labor union conferences to rally support behind the Kennedy administration's program.

The meetings are to start March 7-8 at Pensacola, Fla., for states in this area and range through a total of 17 sessions to a final one June 3-4 at Sioux Falls, S.D.

To Press Congressmen

Called by the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education, or COPE as it is called, the meetings are designed to bring grassroots support in Congress for Kennedy's program and to seek implementing measures in state legislatures.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president here for winter labor union meetings, urged unions Wednesday to get behind the plans proposed by President Kennedy to restore the national economy to full employment and production.

"We must do our job to help mobilize support," Meany told the federation's maritime trades department officials. "I have the greatest confidence in that program and in the President personally."

Meany noted that business organizations like the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers are opposing some Kennedy proposals, but added that "these people don't seem to have learned anything from the past."

View on Wages

The AFL-CIO chief said that higher wages, also would help offset the recession. He explained that "it is my concept that ours is a high-wage, high-price economy."

The federation's building trades department, meanwhile, adopted a new policy that the department's president, C. J. Haggerty, said he is sure will reduce to a minimum picketing and strikes at the nation's missile bases.

The policy bans such labor activity at missile bases and sites until a local union exhausts all possible settlement remedies and gets formal permission from its national union to call a walkout.

Composed March

During the program, the 10th Regiment March, which was composed by Col. Chandler, was sung by Rotarian Richard Tailleux accompanied on the piano by Rotarian Ann, Mrs. William Rynance. The Colonel also was a concert violinist and a member and manager of an opera company.

A red rose, the flower of New York State, was presented to Col. Chandler by Frederic Snyder, who arranged the program and conducted the salute. Throughout the course of the program, Rotarian Snyder offered original poems and phrases which caught the spirit of the occasion.

When Col. Chandler returned from duty on the Mexican border on March 8, 1917 he was honored by his fellow Rotarians. Dr. Charles Carter and William Niles who were present on that occasion, also attended Wednesday's meeting.

Colonel Chandler was born December 13, 1872 at Clyde.

Mother and Three Die in LaGrange Township Blaze

PLEASANT VALLEY, N. Y. (AP)—A mother and three children died early today when fire swept their home in rural LaGrange township.

They were identified as Mrs. Mildred McDonald and John, 13, Janet, 16, and Eileen, 19. Authorities said Mrs. McDonald was separated from her husband, Timothy.

The mother and children rented a two-story house on the property of Max Cohen, who discovered the place in flames about 3:30 a. m. and turned in an alarm.

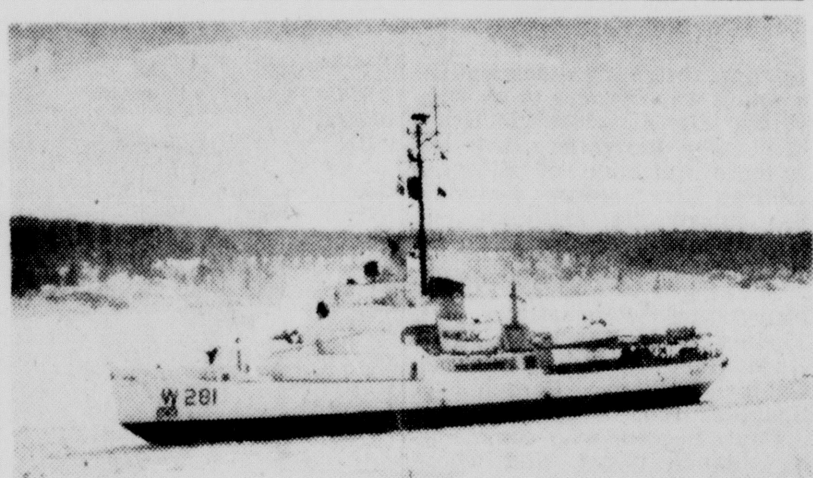

Another daughter, Joyce, 17, and a boy described as an adopted son were not at home at the time.

The boy had left to deliver newspapers about 2 a. m.

The cause of the fire was not immediately determined but was believed to have originated in the boy's room.

CERTIFICATES FOR YOUNG SEAMEN—

These youngsters are proudly receiving their New York State safety certificates following completion of the new Young Boatman's Safety Course sponsored here by the Kingston Power Boat Association. The graduates, between the ages of 10 and 14 are (front, l-r) John McSpirt, Bruce Reynolds, John Melnik, Daniel Potter, Joseph Daly, and Earl Kinn Jr.; second row, Barbara Maynard, Donald Schryver Jr., Justin Beck, Ronald Kinn and James Maynard. Passing out the certificates is Cleon Jump, who is an instructor with Charles Kohl and Joseph Huber, KPBA members who teach safe operation of mechanically propelled boats according to rules of the Conservation Department's Division of Motor Boats. Youngsters are urged to enroll now for another course which is to start in the near future. (Freeman photo).

SPEARHEADS CONVOY—The U. S. Coast Guard icebreaker, Westwind, crunched slowly upstream in the Hudson River Wednesday near the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge, leading a convoy consisting of freighters, oil barges and tugs. Difficulties were reported today in resuming its northerly progress through channel ice reported to be 15 inches thick. The convoy was reported strung out along the channel from Malden to Glasco this morning and experiencing difficulty in getting under way. (Freeman photo)

Hits at No-Recession Critics

Move Fast, JFK Urges Congress, Warns Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy, hitting back at those who contend there is no recession, is "pumping more federal money into the economy to combat 'the very serious problem of unemployment.'"

The President sized up the problem in those terms at his news conference Wednesday night while thrusting at Republican criticism of his efforts to spur business and reduce joblessness. He also prodded the Democratic-controlled Congress—moving slowly so far—to act speedily on his legislative program designed, he said, to get the American economy "back on its feet."

Kennedy dealt at some length with this domestic situation, and also served notice on the Soviet Union to desist from any one-sided intervention in the internal affairs of the strife-torn Congo.

And the President, again with Soviet Union clearly in mind, asserted that any attempt to destroy the United Nations in the Congo crisis "is a blow aimed directly at the independence and security of every nation, large and small."

He pledged the United States "will continue to support the United Nations presence in the Congo," and said a U. N. pull-out—such as demanded by the Soviet Union—would add up to disaster.

Accidents Fatal To 93,000 People During Past Year

CHICAGO (AP) — Ninety-three thousand persons were killed in accidents in the United States last year, more than two-thirds of them in traffic crashes and in the home, the National Safety Council said today.

The number killed was the highest total since 1957 but the death rate was a record low, the council said.

$13.4 Economic Loss
The council estimated the economic loss at $13.4 billion. It covers both fatal and nonfatal accidents, the council said in reporting that more than nine million persons were injured in accidents in 1960. It said 1 of every 19 persons in the nation suffered a disabling injury last year.

Although accidental deaths last year were 1 per cent higher than the 92,080 in 1959, the death rate per 10,000 persons dropped to 51.7, compared to the previous record low of 52.2 in 1959. The council attributed the drop to a 2 per cent increase in population.

38,200 Killed on Roads
Motor vehicle accidents, as in previous years, was the No. 1 killer, with 38,200 deaths, the biggest toll since 1957 and compared to 37,910 in 1959.

Home accidents — poisoning, fires, burns and firearms — ranked second to traffic with 27,500 fatalities, some 500 more than in 1959.

Public accidents not involving motor vehicles took the lives of 16,500 persons, equaling the 1959 toll.

Deaths from work mishaps totaled 13,800, about the same as in 1959. Accidents at work resulted in the loss of 280 million man-days, which the council said was equivalent to an entire year's shutdown of a hypothetical plant employing 1 million workers.

Recognizes Kasavubu

Kennedy said further this country considers the government set up under Joseph Kasavubu as president "is the only legal authority entitled to speak for the Congo as a whole." Both the Soviet Union and the United Arab Republic have recognized the Stanleyville-based regime headed by pro-Communist Antoine Gizenga, a supporter of deposed Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba, whose assassination touched off the new crisis.

As for the domestic economy, Kennedy said the country is "most concerned about the very serious problem of unemployment." There are, he said, more than 5.5 million Americans who want work and can't find a job.

Appeals for Action
Alluding to Congress, the President said he hopes there will be action on his legislative program as soon as possible. He reviewed steps he already has taken on his own to relieve hardship and en-

The sale of Hudson Valley apples, which are appearing on the west coast for the first time in 35 years, is being promoted by a Hollywood film and television star who started his acting career in Woodstock.

Lee Marvin, who skyrocketed from a walk-on part at the Woodstock Playhouse years ago, to stardom in movies like "Rain-Tree County," and the former police television series "M Squad," pushed the desirability of Crisp Aire McIntosh apples on a national TV show last week.

Marvin, formerly of Bearsville, still the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lamont Marvin, was on the telecast with a bevy of models to boom eastern apples.

Let People Solve Woe, Is Demand Guinea Scores Dag, Asks Resignation

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —A representative of leftist Guinea today denounced the U.N. operation in the Congo and demanded immediate and radical measures by the Congolese people to solve their own problems.

Guinea Ambassador Daillo Telli addressed the U.N. Security Council as it resumed debate amid unusual security precautions to guard against a repetition of Wednesday's free-for-all fight touched off by supporters of the slain Congo ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba.

All Are Screened
All persons entering U.N. headquarters were carefully screened. The public was barred from the council meeting.

Daillo Telli did not spell out what sort of measures he had in mind, but he said any solution of the Congo problem would not be "that of the United Nations or that of the colonialist powers."

He read to the 11-nation council a cable from Guinea's President Sekou Toure demanding the resignation of U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold and all his top aides.

Ecuador Backs U. N.
The first speaker of the morning session, Leopoldo Benites of Ecuador, defended Hammarskjold against charges of the Soviet Union and some Asian and African countries that he was to blame for the slaying of Lumumba.

Hammarskjold had the support of a majority of the council's members and has made it clear he has no intention to resign.

U.N. guards took precautions to prevent a repetition of the riotous Negro demonstrations during Wednesday's council debates, in which 41 persons were injured. A speaker at a rally Wednesday night in Harlem exhorted the crowd to be at the U.N. again today and declared:

Six Back Secretary
"Tomorrow the cops won't get us to run. We'll show these gopapo police who we are."

Six of the 11 council members backed up Hammarskjold Wednesday when he told Soviet Deputy (Continued on Page 6, Col. 5)

Thruway Body Defends Tallamy, Son With Company

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The State Thruway Authority is defending as justifiable a contract it holds with Bertram D. Tallamy under which the designated sub-contractor is a firm that employs Tallamy's son.

But the Legislature's Democratic minority leaders called the arrangement "most shocking."

Sen. Joseph Zaretzki and Assemblyman Anthony Travia called for an investigation Wednesday.

Countered R. Burdell Bixby, authority chairman:

"The attempts being made to smear the authority, Mr. Tallamy and his son are disgraceful."

Tallamy, named a $200-a-day consultant to the authority after retiring recently as head of the federal highway program, holds a contract calling for a maximum payment of $200,000. He is to establish a long-range maintenance program for the superhighway.

The contract specified that the sub-contractor would be Senior.

And Only Bruised Infant Is Thrown From Auto Onto Train After Crash

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — An infant girl was found alive but bruised after she was catapulted from an auto onto a moving engine of a freight train which collided with the car Wednesday.

When the Wabash Railroad train stopped a mile from the crash at a crossing, the baby, Terry Lynn Wood, 8 months old, was found wedged on an 18-inch shelf between the diesel engine and tender.

Her mother, Mrs. Charles Moody, 35, who was driving the car and told police she did not see the approaching train, was found injured near the demolished auto. She was reported in fair condition in a Decatur hospital. Police said the train was traveling about 50 miles an hour when it struck the car.

Boy Scout News Troop 9 Holds Court of Honor

Boy Scouts of Troop 9 celebrated the 51st anniversary of Scouting with a family night dinner and court of honor in the assembly room of Redeemer Lutheran Church Sunday evening. The Rev. Dr. David C. Gaise, pastor of the sponsoring church, gave the invocation preceding the dinner which was arranged by the troop's Mothers' Club under the direction of Mrs. George Villhelm, chairman. Steven Ryan and Raymond Wells, graduates of Cub Pack 9, were formally welcomed into the troop during a candlelight tenderfoot investiture ceremony conducted by Scoutmaster William Daum and members of the troop and were presented with New York State neckerchiefs by the Mothers Club.

Awards presented by troop committee members Harold Baltz and Bert Huth during the court of honor included, patrol leaders badges to Robert Villhelm, Robert Baltz and Raymond Krom; Senior patrol leaders badge to William Daum; and home repairs merit badge to Paul Huth.

Service stars were awarded to George Nelson and Richard Remus for one year; Robert Baltz, Robert Villhelm and Paul Huth, three years; Dennis Markle, four years; and to Richard Burns for eight years.

In conjunction with promotion of Camp Tri-Mount, three members of the Order of the Arrow, Robert Burnett, Richard Scism and Thomas Wadnola showed slides of the Rip Van Winkle Council camp at East Jewett and performed a humorous Indian dance, "Big Chief, Little Chief." Assistant Scoutmaster Richard Burns conducted the closing ceremony.

Time for Protest

WASHINGTON (AP) — A rival applicant has until Feb. 28 to protest a Power Commission attorney's recommendation that the St. Lawrence Gas Corp. of Ogdensburg, N.Y., be permitted to supply the Ogdensburg-Massena area with natural gas.

The recommendation, made public Wednesday, was the second one in favor of St. Lawrence, which proposes to import gas from Canada.

Bus Fare to Increase At Walton, Oneonta

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Public Service Commission approved today a $500-a-year rate increase for a bus line between Walton and Oneonta.

Passenger fares will be increased from 25 to 30 cents in each of the four zones of the 26-mile route. Package rates, now 40 cents per hundred pounds with a 25-cent minimum, will be 30 cents a zone and a 75-pound weight limit. The new rates go into effect Sunday.

Revilo Signor of Delhi, owner of the route, said he needed the increases to continue adequate service.

30 View River Slides Wednesday

About 30 persons attended a showing of slides of the Hudson River at the Artcraft Gallery, 694 Broadway, Wednesday night.

A number of those attending brought their own slides and the evening was devoted to showing them. Miss Charlotte McGraw, director of the gallery, who has a large collection of slides of Hudson River scenes, including particularly its shipping and boating, may show hers at a future meeting.

Showing slides were Eugene Patryk of Saugerties, Mrs. Thelma Mertens of Tillsen, Mrs. Ruth Gunt of Saugerties and Capt. William Benson of Sleightsburgh.

Capt. Benson, who commands a Callanan vessel, and whose father served at one time on the Mary Powell, was able to supply interesting comment on some of the pictures, the history of river shipping, etc.

This was the first in a series of such "topical" evenings planned for the gallery.

MID-WINTER MEALS

BAKED BEANS

There's nothing like a hot meal to add spark to cold mid-winter days. And nothing makes cooking hot meals more deliciously simple than Grandma Brown's Baked Beans.

Unlike "ordinary" beans that are merely boiled and flooded with tomato sauce, these home-style beans are soaked, boiled, simmered and baked slowly.

Now you can take over. Flavor with brown sugar, molasses, bacon, or salt pork. Or try your hand at one of the tempting main courses listed below—hot, energy-packed dishes to draw praises from your busy family.

CASSEROLE WITH FRANKS

(Perfect for an Open House)

Ingredients: 2 one-lb. cans of Grandma Brown's Baked Beans; 2 teaspoons dry mustard; ½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed; 2 tablespoons vinegar; ¼ teaspoon salt; dash pepper; 8 franks (about 1 lb.).

Heat oven to 375° F. (moderately hot). Empty 1 can beans into 1½-quart casserole. Sprinkle with 1 teaspoon mustard, ¼ cup brown sugar, 1 tablespoon vinegar, and salt and pepper. Repeat. Arrange franks over beans; press down so that they are partially buried. Bake, covered, at 375° 30 minutes; uncover; brown 10 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

OPEN SANDWICH

Toast bread. Place a heaping tablespoonful of Grandma Brown's Baked Beans over the toast, and then place grated or sliced American cheese and bacon slices over the beans. Top with half slices of lemon and broil slowly until bacon is crisp and cheese melted. Garnish with pickle and serve at once.

EASY BAKED BEANS AND MEAT BALLS

Ingredients: 1 (3 lb. 8 oz.) can Grandma Brown's Home Baked Beans; 1 No. 2 can prepared spaghetti sauce; 1½ lbs. round steak ground; ¾ cup soft bread crumbs; 1 teaspoon salt; 1 egg; 2 tablespoons Parmesan cheese; 2 tablespoons minced onion; ½ cup milk.

Combine ground meat, soft bread crumbs, cheese, onions, salt, egg and milk. Roll into small meat balls.

Place beans in a 3-quart baking dish. Pour spaghetti sauce over beans, add meat balls. Place in preheated 350° F. oven for one hour. Turn meat balls in sauce halfway through baking time. Serves 8.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — If CBS' "The Spy Next Door," televised Wednesday night, resulted in any hard feelings, they were more likely to flare up in the offices of color TV manufacturers than in the Kremlin.

The Circle Theatre program was suddenly canceled without explanation by the network two weeks ago, and later restored to the programs' schedule. The persistent reports were that CBS did not want to do anything to upset American-Soviet relations.

Of course, changes could have been made in the script before the dramatization was taped. But it turned out to be the usual type of Circle Theatre program: A fictitious story built on documented facts. And in this case, it was a composite of a large number of espionage cases, all of which have been well publicized and have served as the unacknowledged source of TV plots by the score.

But although it revealed little that the average newspaper reader does not already know about spies, the program did contain a bit of illuminating dialogue about the price of color television sets.

In the story, the counterintelligence agents were hot on the trail of Red spies who were trying to steal a new electronic machine and send it to Moscow concealed in the innards of a color TV set. The television set dealer protested his innocent in selling the sets to the spy-master, proclaiming: "It sounded like a good deal to me, cash, and I get a 40 per cent markup on the sets. Buyers will undoubtedly note."

As for American-Soviet relations it is hard to see that the show could affect them. The drama followed familiar paths in showing how the Red spy network is organized and how, with several or-

GLAMOUR AND NAME ARE GONE—Franklin D. Roosevelt's presidential plane, the Sacred Cow, has lost its glamour and its name but the 16-year-old DC-4 is still on active duty. Known only as No. 7451, it operates out of Bolling Air Force Base in Washington, D.C., as a headquarters command staff plane. The interior has been modified very little and the president's chair and table are still in place. An elevator which was used for F.D.R.'s wheel chair has been sealed up for a number of years.

Gizenga, Lumumba's Political Heir

Munongo, Tshombe Direct Mineral-Rich Congo Region

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Antoine Gizenga, Patrice Lumumba's political heir in the northern Congo, is a Communist-trained politician described by Congolese diplomats as smart and ruthless.

Gizenga has made two brief appearances at the United Nations, speaking with quiet assurance and displaying an adroit sense of political maneuvering. The tenor of his remarks are often harshly anti-Western.

He was born some 40 years ago a member of the Mutende tribe in the Kwilu area of the lower Congo. He was educated at a Roman Catholic school in Kinshasa and later became a teacher at a Catholic mission school in Leopoldville.

He turned to politics in June 1959. Gizenga attended the January 1960 roundtable on the Congo's future which Belgium convened in Brussels. But he left during the party to attend a short indoctrination course at the Prague Institute for African Affairs. He is reported to be devoted to the Communist cause.

Lumumba made Gizenga his deputy premier in the first Congo government formed after independence was proclaimed last June 30.

Gizenga was arrested last September by Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu, the Congolese army chief in Leopoldville who charged him with trying to incite a mutiny and plotting to assassinate Mobutu. He was released shortly and turned up a month later in Stanleyville, capital of Oriental Province in the northern Congo.

Oriental was a Lumumba stronghold, and around him Gizenga gathered a regime of Lumumbists and several thousand troops of the Congolese army who cast off their nominal allegiance to the Leopoldville government.

Gizenga and his associated established a well-organized Communist-leaning police regime with strong anti-Western tendencies. Gizenga declared his group the legitimate government of the Congo and appealed to all nations for support. Meanwhile his troops extended the regime's control over Kivu Province, part of Kasai and into north Katanga.

Two strong men between them rule mineral-rich, secessionist Katanga Province in the Congo.

The stronger of the two is Godfroid Munongo, chief of the Katanga police in his post as minister of the interior, and wielding immense power in the Katanga army.

Premier Moise-Kapenda Tshombe, whose name has figured in stories about Katanga's defiance of the central government in Leopoldville and scorn of the United Nations, is the other strong man. Significantly, he always consults Munongo on any important decisions, particularly those on U.N.-Katanga relations.

Munongo plays the role of Tshombe's personal troubleshooter. Whenever a distasteful job is to be done, he does it himself.

Tshombe is 41, a businessman type, schooled in the Congo and in Europe, where he traveled extensively. He is officially head of state as well as premier.

Munongo is 38, a former school-teacher educated at various mission schools in Katanga Province, chiefly American Methodist.

Conflicts Mark Albany Sessions for 3rd Year

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller's hopes for a 1961 legislative session of peace and harmony have been rudely blasted.

At the mid-point of the 1961 session, the governor is embroiled, as he was in 1959 and again in 1960, in controversy that has split his own party.

His tax-increase program sparked GOP opposition in 1959. Republican lawmakers repulsed his fallout-shelter plan last year. In the current session, the storm center is the governor's proposal for state help to students at private colleges.

Talked of Partners

With an eye on his earlier conflicts with the lawmakers, Rockefeller entered the 1961 session by talking of "partnership government" with the Legislature. He went out of his way in his annual message at the opening of the session to praise several members by name.

He had abandoned his task-force approach, in which groups of specialists recruited by the governor framed programs that were submitted to the Legislature for approval.

Members of the Legislature bridled under this procedure, especially because it by-passed their own committees.

Rockefeller, planning to seek re-election next year, was anxious to avoid controversy this year, mend political fences and, in effect, take a breather between the first hectic years and the 1962 election year.

So, as one prominent Republican pointed out, the governor was surprised when his plan to help college students touched off a storm.

The attacks by statewide organizations, extensive editorial criticisms, sharp conflict between religious groups and widespread dissent among Upstate Republican legislators is hardly the smooth sailing envisioned by the governor.

The controversy has produced some unusual lineups.

Rockefeller's basic plan calls for annual grants, ranging to $200, for New York residents attending private colleges within the state. The private colleges include many Roman Catholic schools, and Catholic groups are supporting the program.

AFL-CIO Backs Plan

The State Council of (Protestant) churches opposes the plan on the ground it would violate a constitutional ban on use of public funds for sectarian schools.

The State Congress of Parents and Teachers and various taxpayer and business groups also are opposed on various grounds, including costs. These groups include many Republicans.

On the other hand, Rockefeller's program is supported by the state AFL-CIO, which has given strong support to Democrats in the past.

SURPLUS OF HOUSES

An economic slump always manifests itself in a variety of ways. This one is starting to show up in the curtailment of new home sales in the burgeoning West. Some salesmen with big outgoings that build houses "by the acre" have joined the ranks of the unemployed.

Happily, the long look ahead is more rosy. Any temporary surplus in new houses appears almost certain to be absorbed before long. Housing starts—this is true, at least, when the statistics are spread out over the nation—have never really exceeded the demand since the end of World War II. The population boom seems likely to exert pressure on available housing for a long time to come.

This pressure can be pointed up by noting that 15 years hence today's first graders will be 21 and beginning to clamor for their own houses to live in. The same generality applies to food surpluses. In another decade and a half, surpluses may well be history and the problem may be to expand production fast enough to meet the demands of millions of additional consumers.

So much for the future. The trouble is that such reflections hold little comfort for the salesmen who can't move houses fast enough, or for the people who worry about curbing food production and disposing of the surplus.

THE DECISION PROBLEM

"Executive ability," said Tom L. Johnson, a Cleveland who shone both as a street railway magnate and as mayor, "is very simple. Decide everything immediately, and be right part of the time."

The opposite school of thought is represented by those people who, as many of us know, never answer letters because they find that in due time they answer themselves. Which is the sounder policy?

Attention to this question has so far been incidental to detailed studies of business. Now it may be possible to come up with a scientific answer. Northwestern University has received from an anonymous donor to the department of political science a fund for a long-term analysis of how and why men make their decisions. The new chair will be named after Benjamin Franklin because of his eminence as a decision maker, and the beneficial results that his decisions achieved.

It will be interesting to know how many choices are made figuratively tossing a coin, and how many by a careful analysis of all factors. And of course also whether the one method has generally achieved better results than the other.

WE SHOULD LIVE SO LONG

A British doctor says that people get shorter as they get older—about half an inch every 20 years. No cause for alarm, though, men. That's plenty of time to get full wear out of a pair of trousers before they start dragging.

THE DAYS OF PIRACY

The seizure of the Santa Maria brought piracy into the headlines for the first time in years. Yet for three centuries and more, ending with the start of the 19th, piracy was a problem for the European powers and the United States as well.

The North African states of Algeria, Tunis and Tripoli, nominally parts of the Turkish empire, broke loose in the 16th century and sent piratical fleets not only over the Mediterranean but into the Atlantic. The North African corsairs even pillaged villages in Denmark and Iceland, and in 1631 sacked the Irish seaport of Baltimore. The mutual jealousies of the European powers kept them from rooting out these pirates. They judged it cheaper to pay them tribute in order to be let alone.

Our government, when only a few years old, resisted this practice after yielding to it for a short time. In 1801 began a war with Tripoli, which ended with an American victory four years later. Our success

'These Days'

THE GOLD PROBLEM

Although the outward drain of gold remains a serious problem, no one in government has yet come up with a workable solution.

One of our problems is our short term liabilities which are a potential drain on our gold supply. As of October 1960, these short term liabilities amounted to about $21,400,000,000. Of this sum, $10,200,000,000 represented liabilities to foreign central banks and governments which are entitled to be paid in gold rather than in dollars, if they prefer gold. They were, therefore, a direct threat to our gold reserve. Of the remainder, $3,600,000,000 was held by International Institutions and $7,600,000,000 in other institutions and private persons. Deducting our short term claims on foreigners, the United States was left with a short term liability of approximately $18,100,000,000 which exceeded our monetary gold reserve. This set off a period of gold speculation on the London gold market and called universal attention to the American gold difficulties.

The balance of trade has been favorable to the United States during 1958, 1959 and 1960. The difficulty arose not from ordinary trade relations but from expenditures for economic and military aid to other countries and to the distribution of American troops in foreign countries. Even these expenditures, averaging for the years 1958, 1959 and 1960, $3,100,000,000 for American military purposes outside the country and grants in aid averaging $2,400,000,000 annually do not wholly explain our troubles.

The export of private capital has been very large during these years and although no absolute figures are available, it is generally accepted that they are an enormous factor in the situation. Many causes entered into this situation, perhaps the principal one being that quota and tariff restrictions and the organization of the Common Market and the Free Trade Association in Europe forced many of our businesses to open plants in European and Asiatic countries in order to be able to compete and operate in restricted areas. This amounts to an export of jobs and is a factor in the continued unemployment in the United States.

If all foreign nations removed their quotas and permitted the import of American goods, it would be helpful, although that alone would not solve the gold problem or unemployment, particularly as the balance of exchange of merchandise is still favorable to the United States.

The entire question of military expenditures outside the United States requires reconsideration and revision. The United States accepted the heavy load of the reconstruction of Europe, and the United States in the hope of finding a road to peace. It is difficult to convince the world that our motives have been lofty and moral. The assumption of most people is that the American objectives were based solely upon materialistic considerations. We have now reached the point at which the "give-away" programs, as their opponents called them, can no longer be carried forward without endangering the economy of this country and the stability of its currency.

There can be no question but that European nations and Japan will realize that their own economic stability still depends upon the stability of the American dollar and that it will benefit no country, except Soviet Russia, to take advantage of the American economic difficulties.

The fact that the entire Western world is on a gold exchange standard is not readily understood in this country where it is only too often assumed that we have had nothing to do with gold since Franklin D. Roosevelt altered our gold standard. The fact is that the currency of all nations can be exchanged for dollars which in turn can be exchanged for gold through governments and central banks.

The question thus arises, is there enough gold available to take care of all the monetary needs of the world? The world monetary supply of gold, at $35 an ounce, amounts to roughly $40,000,000,000. This then is the central problem in the gold situation and is hardly one with which amateurs can do very much. In a word, the gold reserve of the world needs to be built up, surely by newly mined gold. But can gold be mined economically at $35 an ounce?

Some very able minds are devoting themselves to this problem and their reports, usually very technical, do not see the light of day. As far as I am able to do so, I shall attempt to translate their various views in language which is understandable.

Allergy to Nail Polish
Can Produce Rashes

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"Can you tell me anything about a rash on my eyelids?" asks Mrs. J. L. "I had my glasses changed and the doctor said not to worry because it's just a sign of nerves. After applying an ointment suggested by a druggist, it peels off but always returns."

Nerves, my little toe! Might as well go back to the Middle Ages and blame the eruption on the misanthropes!

You, you and your misinformants are in for a bit of a shock. Much as I try to avoid medical practice by correspondence, I'm willing to venture the suggestion that your rash results from hypersensitivity to nail polish.

That's right! Nail polish!

If ever you've noticed, most women flick their eyelids with the backs of their fingers. Why men don't do it that way, I've never been able to discover. Anyhow, when you flick, you rub nail polish on your upper lid. And, if you happen to be allergic to nail polish, you give yourself the same sort of rash you'd get on your legs if you wore stockings made of some synthetic fiber to which you were hypersensitive.

Abandon nail polish and see if that helps. You may lose prestige in society circles, but you'll get rid of your rash.

And speaking of misinformation, here's a tom-waller, to borrow a word from John Steinbeck. "My sister had sleeping sickness," writes Miss R. H., "and it left her with epilepsy. Some of those she works with say it comes from jealousy. Her doctor says it is not caused by jealousy. But some still have the old idea and this makes her very nervous. I think if you would explain the disease some of them would read it and she would be much better."

I'm not one to belittle the power of jealousy. Its coals are "the coals of fire," said Solomon. Its venom, writes Shakespeare, are "more deadly than a mad dog's tooth." It lights its torch "from the firebrands of the Furies," adds Edmund Burke.

But epilepsy! No, no! A thousand times, NO!

Dear Reader: Dr. Hyman appreciates your comments and questions but regrets that the heavy volume of his mail doesn't permit him to answer each individual letter or post card. However, he will comment in columns like the above upon matters of general or unusual interest.

shamed the British and French into finally refusing to pay tribute. The final blow to the pirates was delivered in 1830, when the French conquered Algeria. This marked the end of piracy on a large scale, though it has not yet ended in the China Sea.

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The staff of Texas Democratic Sen. Ralph Yarborough's Freedom of Communications subcommittee, in compiling the transcript of all the presidential candidates' broadcasts in the last campaign—which it will publish in six volumes of about 1,000 pages each—has come across a number of prime examples of President Kennedy's wit and humor.

Supplementing the few samples given in a previous column, here are a few more gems to put in your Kennedy joke book:

In a Dallas speech, Kennedy referred to the Russian lead over the United States in the space race.

"The first satellite was called Sputnik, not Vanguard," he said. "The first country to place its emblem upon the moon was not the United States, but the Soviet Union. The first passengers to return safely from a trip to outer space were named Strelka, and Belka—not Rover, Fido or Checkers."

At Amarillo, just before the election, Kennedy pulled this one:

"I understand that the vice president is arriving in Texas with a 'rescue squad'—Nelson Rockefeller, the President of the United States, Henry Cabot Lodge—and now they are adding three new members to the team, who will advise him on how to win this election. They are Landon, Hoover and Dewey."

"We can't lose."

KENNEDY WAS PROBABLY at his best—or worst, if you are a Republican and are still reading—at the Al Smith memorial dinner in New York, last Oct. 19. Here are a few quotes:

"Mr. Nixon, like the rest of us, has had his troubles in this campaign. At one point, even the Wall Street Journal was criticizing his tactics. That is like the L'Osservatore Romano criticizing the Pope."

"But I think the worst news for the Republicans this week was that Casey Stengel has been fired. It must show, perhaps, that experience does not count."

"On this matter of experience, I had announced earlier this year that, if successful, I would not consider contributions as a substitute for experience in appointing ambassadors. Ever since I made that statement, I have not received a single cent from my father."

"ONE OF THE MOST inspiring notes that was struck in the late 'Great Debate' was struck by the vice president in his very moving warning (to) the children of the nation and the candidates, against the use of profanity by presidents and ex-presidents when they are on the stump. And I know, after 14 years in the Congress with the vice president that he was sincere in his views about the use of profanity."

"But I am told that a prominent Republican said to him yesterday in Jacksonville, Fla.: 'Mr. President, that was damn fine speech.' And the vice president said in reply, 'I appreciate the compliment but not the language.'"

"The Republican then went on to say, 'I liked the speech so much that I contributed a thousand dollars to your campaign.' And Mr. Nixon replied, 'The hell you say.'"

"HOWEVER, I WOULD NOT want to give the impression that I am taking former President Truman's use of language lightly. I have sent him the following wire:

"Dear Mr. President. I have noted with interest your suggestion as to where those who vote for my opponent should go. While I understand and sympathize with your deep motivation, I think it is important that our side try to refrain from raising the religious issue."

"We hear so much about the deer in this weather. In looking through the Catskill Mountain News published in Margaretville, I enjoyed the 'Mountain Dew' column written by The Mountaineer in the Feb. 3, 1961 issue. He tells about Francis Sanford of Dunraven having a young buck deer visit him and eat apples and other food. Also it seems the snow is not as deep on the frozen stream as in the forest, so it makes a fine place to 'yard.' The deer depend on such foods as buds on overhanging trees. The Mountaineer wrote that the frozen stream is a complete mass of footprints."

It seems the deer come in herds as large as 12, and sometimes just in twos and threes, to find water holes so they may drink. Eldred Shaver of Arena feeds a number of deer and he finds they like apples best. He also says wild turkeys like non-wild food.

There are various feeding stations throughout our Catskills and they do good business with the birds. The blue jays are back with us, he writes, and they can be heard as they make a great deal of noise when pecking away at food. I know many folks feed birds, and have feeding stations and watch them come and go, especially now with white snow all around.

The Catskill Mountain News I enjoy through Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ruchman, who have a summer home up that way, and are neighbors of mine in Kingston in the winter.

It is interesting to learn how animals try to live through this very difficult winter, also how people try to help feed them. Our woods nearby have many interesting animals, who once in a while visit Kingston. I have seen opossum, all sizes, around here. I saw a family of raccoons, digging in a trash barrel, between here and Woodstock. I have seen a dignified porcupine walk on Broadway.

Captain Andrew Hickey, U. S. Navy, (ret.) and a well known historian and writer of Kingston, gave me an interesting item on Captain Washington Irving Chambers, U. S. Navy, deceased. Captain Chambers was born in Kingston on April 4th, 1856, and graduated from Kingston Academy. He graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy June, 1876. He did regular service on Navy ships. In 1908 he was promoted to captain, and ordered to duty at the Naval Department in 1909. Captain Chambers was known as the "father of naval aviation." He had obtained the first naval appropriation from Congress in aviation in 1910-11 of $25,000. Captain W. I. Chambers was married to the former Isabella Reynolds of Kingston in 1892. Isabella was a sister to a

Pre-Filed Questions Urged For President's News Talks

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15—The Presidential press conference is not quite what it could be and still preserve the dignity of the Presidency while giving the American people the information to which they are entitled.

The conference could become one of the finest symbols of free government in the world. But today it is haphazard in its form and hardly as effective as it would be if the formula were changed to permit the President to study in advance any written questions submitted.

The President cannot possibly know offhand the answers to all the queries. Nor is he likely always to discuss them fully when he is required to reply off-the-cuff. He should have the privilege of deciding beforehand which questions he wishes to answer and which ones he wishes to postpone or even ignore. Reporters whose questions are not answered would have the right to ask the White House after a press conference whether their inquiries might be answered on a subsequent occasion. They could publicize refusals to reply.

Could Consult Cabinet

If the President, however, were given a few hours' notice of the content of the questions, there would be an opportunity for him to consult members of the Cabinet or other officials of the government and make a decision as to what, if anything, should be said on various subjects. Once the President did make a reply to a given question, the reporters should be permitted to interrogate him further on any phase of that subject.

Under the present system, questions are tossed at the President in any order, and sometimes they are repetitious. Often many of the newsmen would like to pursue a particular topic but do not have a chance to finish asking about it before the President is diverted by other questions on something else, entirely unrelated. That sometimes cuts off useful discussion.

Audience Miss Questions

The present-day conferences do not enhance the prestige of the press, as some of the questions are popped in such irregular fashion that listeners do not get their true significance. In fact, it is sometimes hard for the television or radio audience to get the full import of a question. Thus, if each written question were read aloud by the President or someone on his staff, the audience would hear every word and know just what was being discussed.

This whole problem has been up in previous administrations, but it hasn't been as important before because press conferences had not been presented "live" on television or radio until this administration came into office on Jan. 20. The impression which the nation gets of its press is as important as the impression it gets of the President who is being interviewed.

Nothing like the Presidential press conference takes place regularly anywhere else in the world. The nearest thing to it are the debates held in the parliaments of Europe where opposition members formally submit written questions several days in advance. Once these are answered by the government's spokesman, there is full discussion by those present.

If questions had to be handed in at the White House a few hours ahead of the President's press conference—and newsmen could be encouraged to file some of them even a day in advance—there could be more preparation than now is possible. Certainly there would be a better chance to get a comprehensive answer from the President—and, after all, that is the main purpose of the news conference. It is not intended to be a theatrical performance or a vehicle for political oratory or for impertinent comments by the reporters. "Live" television shows of a hit-or-miss sort could easily defeat the main purpose and become boring to listeners, especially if the time is taken up with questions of minor importance or with specialized subjects that can better be handled by Cabinet officers.

No Reason for Repetition

For there is no reason why the President should find it necessary to discuss subjects that are being thoroughly explored by the heads of government departments and agencies who themselves hold press conferences regularly and can give answers more fully to the reporters.

The President, of course, could bring up topics of his own and make comments on them. This would naturally open the conference to questions on any statements that he himself has introduced. The important change would be in the filing of written questions in advance but with the understanding that, once the President gave an answer, further questions on that same subject could be asked if the reporters so desired. All this could mean in the long run more information for the people on national and international policies.

The Catskill Mountain News I enjoy through Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ruchman, who have a summer home up that way, and are neighbors of mine in Kingston in the winter.

It is interesting to learn how animals try to live through this very difficult winter, also how people try to help feed them. Our woods nearby have many interesting animals, who once in a while visit Kingston. I have seen opossum, all sizes, around here. I saw a family of raccoons, digging in a trash barrel, between here and Woodstock. I have seen a dignified porcupine walk on Broadway.

Captain Andrew Hickey, U. S. Navy, (ret.) and a well known historian and writer of Kingston, gave me an interesting item on Captain Washington Irving Chambers, U. S. Navy, deceased. Captain Chambers was born in Kingston on April 4th, 1856, and graduated from Kingston Academy. He graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy June, 1876. He did regular service on Navy ships. In 1908 he was promoted to captain, and ordered to duty at the Naval Department in 1909. Captain Chambers was known as the "father of naval aviation." He had obtained the first naval appropriation from Congress in aviation in 1910-11 of $25,000. Captain W. I. Chambers was married to the former Isabella Reynolds of Kingston in 1892. Isabella was a sister to a postal official in Kingston. He died on Sept. 23, 1934 at Chillicothe, Ohio, while traveling on a train enroute to Washington, D. C. He had served in the Spanish-American War, the Philippine Insurrection, Cuban Pacification and World War I. The Navy Department awarded him medals for all these services.

It is exciting to learn what a part a Kingstonian played in naval aviation of which so much is spoken now, some 100 years after he was born. Remember when Admiral Richard E. Byrd visited Kingston. He was a great leader of naval aviation, making expeditions to the north and south poles. Perhaps more is known about Captain W. I. Chambers of Kingston by readers. No doubt the list is long. Of Kingstonians who had made good in the last century. It would be interesting to read such a list, and the achievements of those who have had public and secondary education here in Kingston in the good old days.

Fire Damages Sofa

A fire believed due to "careless smoking" damaged a sofa stored in a one-story, frame garage at the rear of 72 Broadway Wednesday afternoon. Units from Central and Cornell stations answered a call at 2:34 p. m., and the blaze was checked with a hydrant stream. The garage, owned by Mrs. Lee Magalino, was not damaged.

NEW YORK (AP)—Demonstrations against United Nations and Belgian policies in the Congo and in protest against the slaying of Patrice Lumumba erupted on the streets of New York City and Washington, D.C.

The demonstrations — Wednesday and Wednesday night — followed the riotous scenes in United Nations headquarters in which two score persons were injured.

Most of the street demonstrators were Negroes. Several arrests were made.

Times Square March

In Manhattan mounted police broke up a march toward Times Square early in the evening by Negro demonstrators chanting "Congo, yes! Yankee, No!"

Several in the crowd were knocked down before it was dispersed.

Later at a street meeting in Harlem a number of speakers called for unity among Negro nationalist groups. Among them was Benjamin Davis Jr., Negro national secretary of the Communist party and a former New York City councilman.

In Washington Wednesday, police hauled away 25 Negro demonstrators after they had yelled for half an hour and had thrown snowballs and eggs at the Belgian embassy. They were protesting the slaying of Lumumba, former Congo premier. Officials said Communists stirred up the disorder.

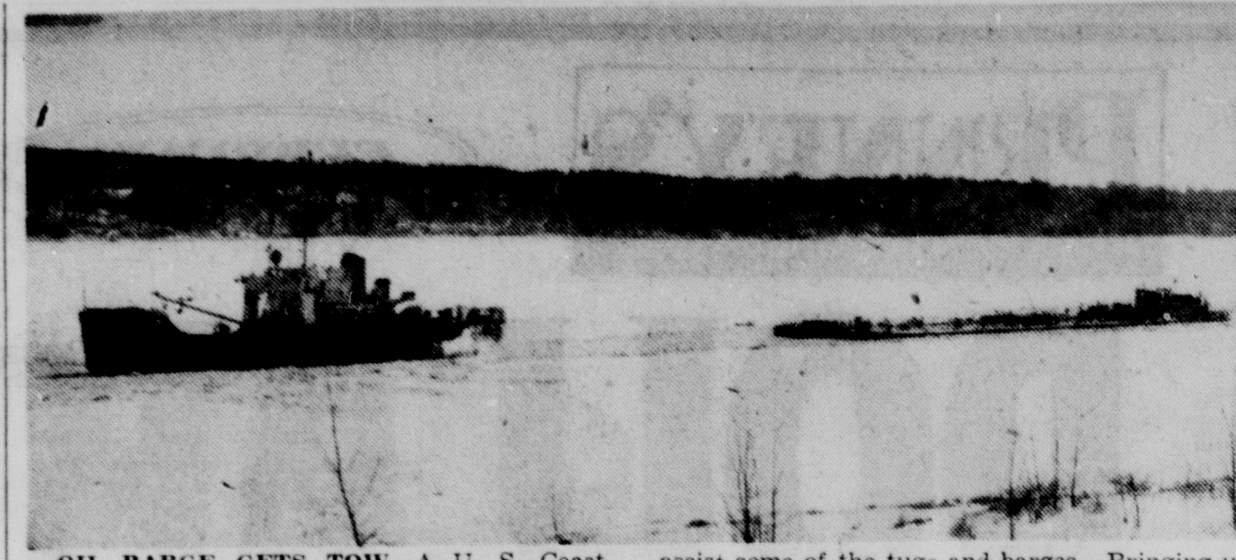

Turned Away Whites

The picketing which started outside the United Nations headquarters here after the wild demonstration in the Security Council chamber appeared to be dominated by members of the United African Nationalist Movement and their sympathizers. They turned away white persons who wanted to join the picketing. And when Davis tried to join, they also turned him away. Davis later joined a group of largely white pickets on a nearby street.

Mounted and foot patrolmen of the city police swung into action as demonstrators—forced out of the U. N. building—threw rocks and snowballs at U. N. guards. Three Negroes were arrested and were given suspended sentences when they pleaded guilty in court to charges of disorderly conduct.

OIL BARGE GETS TOW—A U. S. Coast Guard cutter tows an oil barge as the northbound convoy struggles through heavy ice in the Hudson River channel off Kingston Wednesday afternoon. The convoy lead vessel, Westwind, reached Malden by nightfall yesterday and laid there overnight. Mrs. Chester B. Glunt of Saugerties told The Freeman this morning that the Westwind had gone back downstream in an effort to assist some of the tugs and barges. Bringing up the rear of the convoy is the African Monarch, a freighter, which was trapped for 10 days in ice off Esopus Meadows Station just below Kingston. Another freighter, La Manche (Spanish), is also in the convoy. Mrs. Glunt indicated that the vessels may spend most of today in the Malden area. (Freeman photo)

Curtis Pleads Self Defense, Feared Brother's Use of Gun

Newton Curtis, 62-year-old Quarryville man who stands charged with first degree murder for the alleged beating to death of his brother, Oliver "Jack" Curtis, with a bed slat last August 24, during a quarrel over occupancy of a shack at a Town of Saugerties hunting lodge, will plead self defense.

Calling it a Cain and Abel or a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde affair, Assistant District Attorney Joseph Torracca said in an opening to the jury today said the defendant had, during a quarrel between the brothers, "beaten the brains out" of his brother with a bed slat in a savage and brutal attack.

G. Thomas Rea, Saugerties Police Justice, who defends Newton Curtis, called the death of Oliver Curtis an act committed in self defense by Newton, who had been threatened by his brother, Newton believed his life was in danger.

Refers to Gun

In his opening remarks to the eleven-man and one woman jury, Rea said Newton knew his brother Oliver had a gun in the shack and had acted in self defense.

The brothers admittedly quarreled on the night of August 24, 1960, Rea told the jury Newton was attacked by his brother, struck with some unknown object which inflicted cuts on the cheek and nose, and after a tussle outside the building, Newton had entered the building to secure something to defend himself with.

Lived as Caretaker

Several years ago Oliver Curtis owned a tract of land in the Quarryville area. Later he sold it to the Bayside Sports and Hunting Association, a group of Queens sportsmen who had erected a small hunting lodge on the premises. Oliver was permitted to remain on the property as caretaker, living in a shack which he had previously owned. At times he spent the night in the hunting lodge, Torracca said.

In June or July Newton Curtis, younger brother of deceased, came to Quarryville and resided on the property. On the evening of August 24, while both men were at the lodge they became engaged in "bickering" over who was "boss" and who did the work. Both men had been drinking, Torracca said. They finally left their beds and went to the kitchen where Oliver, allegedly struck Newton in the face. Newton went back to his bedroom, Torracca said, secured a bed slat and "battered" Oliver on the head. They wrestled on the floor, rolled outside the building and fought on the lawn until Oliver was unconscious.

Charges He Returned

Torracca said it would be shown Newton re-entered the building went to sleep and later arose after being awakened by his brother's moans and then took the bed slat and "beat his brains out with the bed slat until he was dead."

Later after returning to the lodge, Newton arose about 4 a. m., saw the body of his brother dead and cold and "took off." Later after the body was discovered and a search was instituted, Newton Curtis was observed walking along a road by

Found Day After

The body was first discovered by a man who parked his car near the hunting lodge and was a frequent caller at the Curtis place. The body was discovered about 5 p. m. on the day after the alleged murder.

Torracca said Newton had returned to the scene, re-enacted the crime and admitted the act. In his opening Attorney Rea said there was no question about difference between the brothers. However, he said, he would show by a sister of Curtis, Jennie Auer, 72, and also by a grandnephew Thomas Auer, that Newton had been threatened with death by Oliver.

Oliver Curtis had resided with and eaten at the home of his sister for some time before the alleged murder and had gone only to the shack "while intoxicated." He said the witnesses would show that Oliver Curtis had threatened to blow his brother's brains out and only three days prior to the killing, had taken his 12 gauge gun from the Auer house to the hunting lodge.

Rea said the defendant, Newton Curtis, would take the stand, admit he had been convicted of assault, would testify to the acts which took place on August 24 and 25. It would be shown that the death was in self defense and that Newton had intended to leave the scene and go to a spot in the mountains where he frequently went alone when "trouble was brewing" at the hunting lodge due to drinking.

It would be shown that on August 24, Newton heard his brother mulling in the lodge, that he had entered the place to get his sleeping bag and some food to take up his usual place "under a ledge" on the mountain, when he was attacked by his brother. Oliver had been drinking. It was then that Newton was struck on the face with some object which could not be seen in the darkness. Newton then engaged in a fight to protect himself and after the brothers had rolled around the lawn and down a bank, Newton arose first, entered the lodge, got the bed slat and "launched out" at his brother in self defense.

Rea said Newton re-entered the lodge and tried to stop the flow of blood from his facial wounds and later after stopping the flow of blood left the lodge and was apprehended by Constable Reilly. The blood found all over the interior of the lodge was from the wounds of Newton, Rea said. He said later the gun owned by Oliver was found in the lodge.

Public Barred

Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin he would not resign. They were the United States, Turkey, Nationalist China, France, Chile and Britain.

Since any resolution needs seven votes for adoption, their stand doomed a Soviet resolution to have the council call for Hammarskjöld's dismissal as "a participant in and organizer of the killing of Patrice Lumumba, deposed premier of the Congo."

Zorin introduced the resolution Wednesday, following up a statement by his government that it would no longer recognize or deal with Hammarskjöld as secretary-general because the Soviets said, he had Lumumba's blood on his hands.

Preposterous Allegation

The resolution also sought sanctions against Belgium, the arrest of anti-Lumumba Congolese leaders, disarming of their troops, ouster of all Belgians from the Congo and the ending of U. N. operations in the chaotic African country within a month.

Hammarskjöld told the council that the Soviet charge against him was a "preposterous allegation" and a maneuver to accomplish Soviet Premier Khrushchev's proposal of last Oct. 3 that he be replaced by a Western-Communist-neutralist triumvirate.

The secretary-general said that normally if the Soviet Union or another permanent member of the council withdrew its confidence in him, he would resign.

But he said that if he resigned now, "no new secretary-general could be appointed (because of the Soviet veto), and the world would have to bow to the wish of the Soviet Union" for triumvirate control of the U. N. machinery. This, he said, would not give the uncommitted countries the instrument they need.

Promises Defiance

Outside the Soviet bloc, only Cuba, Guinea and Mali, which normally lean toward the Soviet view, had so far joined the new campaign against Hammarskjöld.

In cables to Hammarskjöld Wednesday President Sekou Toure of Guinea demanded "the collective resignation of the secretary-general and his closest collaborators," and President Modibo Keita of Mali promised "permanent defiance" of Hammarskjöld until he quit. Toure also asked for the immediate withdrawal of all U. N. technical assistance experts from Guinea.

Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa cabled the council that Hammarskjöld's resignation "can be delayed no further."

Ceylon, Liberia and the United Arab Republic worked to draw up a resolution that could win council approval and at the same time keep the U. N. in the Congo.

Favor Neutral Zones

Diplomatic sources said the three nations thought of proposing that the U. N. Congo force prevent civil war by placing neutral zones between the rival factions—and by shooting if necessary; that the council demand the immediate withdrawal of Belgian military personnel from the Congo; and that it send a commission to investigate Lumumba's death.

Some informants said the prospective sponsors had thrown out the idea of mentioning Hammarskjöld in connection with the force, since they feared this would provoke a Soviet veto, and were having trouble finding an acceptable substitute formula.

Hammarskjöld already has sent an aide to Elisabethville to investigate Lumumba's death, but Katanga Province President Moïse Tshombe, in whose territory the ex-premier was slain, adamantly refused to cooperate. He formally notified the U. N. command Wednesday that he would not deal with any commission inquiring into Lumumba's death because it was no business of the U. N.

Lumumba's partisans in other governments continued to line up slowly with recognition of Antoine Gizenga's pro-Communist regime in Stanleyville as the legal government of the Congo. Yugoslavia, East Germany and Ghana came out for Gizenga, joining the Soviet Union, Red China and the U. A. R.

Proposes Surplus Grain Be Allotted To Aid Game Birds

Congressman J. Ernest Wharton, 29th District, has introduced a joint resolution in the House of Representatives authorizing use of surplus grain owned by the Commodity Credit Corporation for emergency use in the feeding of resident game birds and other wildlife, and for other purposes.

The resolution states that for the purpose of meeting emergency situations caused by adverse weather conditions or other factors destructive of important wildlife resources, the States are hereby authorized, following a request by the governor of the particular State to the Secretary of Interior and upon a finding by the Secretary that any area of the United States is threatened with serious damage or loss to resident game birds and other wildlife from starvation, to requisition from the Community Credit Corporation grain acquired by the corporation through price support operations.

It is felt that the severe winter may result in emergency for our important wildlife and it is expected that this resolution will make available the necessary food to keep them alive, Wharton said.

Cardinal Lists Special Dispensations for Lent

His Eminence, Francis Cardinal Spellman has granted a dispensation from the Lenten fast and partial abstinence in the Archdiocese of New York on Wednesday, Feb. 22, Washington's birthday.

Friday, March 17, the feast of St. Patrick, His Eminence has dispensed the Archdiocese from the regulations of fast and abstinence.

In addition, Cardinal Spellman has also dispensed the Archdiocese from abstinence this year on Holy Saturday, April 1, though the day will remain one of fast.

Welfare Jury Chosen

Selection of a jury of nine men and three women was completed Wednesday afternoon at Poughkeepsie for the trial of Mrs. Elta Louise Meadows, 31, former city welfare department employee, who is accused of stealing $889.70 in payments destined for welfare recipients. Dutches County Judge John R. Schwartz ordered attorneys to select two alternate jurors. Welfare Commissioner John Sweeney was the first witness called by District Attorney Raymond Baratta after counsel for both sides finished their opening remarks to the jurors. Sweeney identified several records which listed the names of welfare recipients who authorities said didn't receive monies allotted to them. Mrs. Meadows resides on Haviland Road, Hyde Park. She previously pleaded innocent to the indictment. The trial resumed at 10 a. m.

Assemblyman Hears Troubles Of School Boards

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson announced today that he recently met with members of the Ulster County School Board Association to discuss many financial problems confronting education.

Schools generally are suffering from fiscal ailments. Those present were of the opinion that the state should raise its basic formula, to make the state's share more equitable. It was suggested that a 15 per cent increase in basic state aid would tend to accomplish this, central school district transportation, teacher benefits, and percentage increases to flat grant districts were among other matters pertaining to education that were discussed.

Wilson stated that there were several proposed education bills before the Legislature this year. However, they were still in the study stages among them being the proposed $200 grant to students attending private New York State Colleges.

Wilson further stated that he was sympathetic to the fact that schools need money. However, he felt that the home owner was carrying about as heavy a tax load as he could stand. He hoped that new sources of revenue could be found so that these needs could be fulfilled.

Plattekill

PLATTEKILL—Oscar Feldt was among council members named, for a three year term, for the Redeemer Lutheran Church, New Paltz, at the annual meeting. Services were formerly conducted at the Lloyd Methodist Church until the New Paltz church was acquired.

Yvonne B. Wager was re-appointed dog warden of the Town of Plattekill recently for the 23rd consecutive year.

Former Church Organist Dies

Former organist at the Fair Street Reformed Church, Mrs. Ella O. Eltinge, 77, died at her residence, 105 St. James Street, this morning.

The widow of William S. Eltinge, she served as organist and choir director at the Fair Street Church from October, 1910 to October, 1958. Mrs. Eltinge studied piano with the late Professor Harry P. Dodge and began her career as organist as summer substitute at Old Dutch Church.

She accepted the position at Fair Street Church replacing Miss Annie Fuller as organist and directed the male quartette. The singing group was later succeeded by a mixed quartette and subsequently by the present mixed choir and junior choir organized in 1933.

For many years Mrs. Eltinge was known as a fine accompanist. She served Kingston Choral Society under direction of W. Whitford Frederburgh, Oratorio Society and Saugerties Glee Club. In addition to her many activities as organist, choir director and accompanist, Mrs. Eltinge was active for many years in numerous church organizations and civic projects.

Surviving are two sisters, Miss Frances J. Osterhout of Kingston and Mrs. Kenneth E. Martin of Woodstock and a niece, Miss Virginia L. Martin of Woodstock.

Funeral services will be held at the Fair Street Reformed Church Saturday 1 p. m. Friends may call at the A. Carr & Son Funeral Home, 1 Pearl Street, Friday 7 to 9 p. m. Burial will be in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

Funeral will be held Saturday 9:30 a. m. from Seamon Funeral Home, John and Lafayette Streets, Saugerties, and at St. Mary's Church, Saugerties, 10 a. m. where a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of her soul. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery, Barclay Heights. Friends may call at the funeral home at any time.

Still Favor Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP)—A majority of delegates to the 1960 Republican National Convention who responded to a poll favor Richard M. Nixon at this time as their next presidential candidate.

But Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona showed surprising strength, and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York pulled up third behind Goldwater.

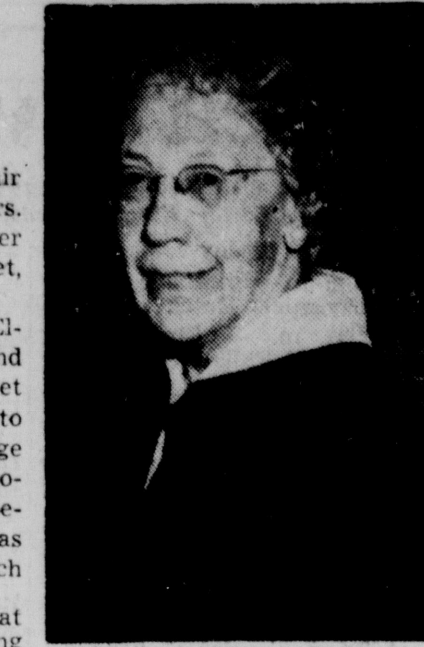

A poll of the 1,331 delegates was conducted by the Indianapolis News. Results were made available to The Associated Press.

Man Fatally Hurt

FORT PLAIN, N. Y. (AP)—Eugene Fox, 82, was killed today when struck by an automobile on the main street of the nearby village of Nelliston.

His death was the first traffic fatality in Montgomery County in 1961.

State Police said visibility was poor at the time of the early-morning accident, because of falling snow.

In Dealing With Russia, Congressmen

President May Have to Change 2-Way Sturdy-Nice Approach

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is doing a balancing act: Attempting to be firm while acting on the theory that a soft answer turneth away wrath.

He's doing this with Russia and Congress, trying to stiff-arm both without making either angry. He demonstrated it again at his news

Good When It Works

It's a technique which is good when it works. Kennedy's problem at least with Congress, is:

Will it? It hasn't, so far.

Congress has done practically nothing for 45 days. Kennedy has been pleading for action, particularly on the recession. But he's avoided saying anything so tart

it would make getting congressional action even harder.

He has been firm with the Russians — warning them Wednesday night not to move into the Congo

— while still seeking to repair

American-Russian relations and hoping to do business with Premier Khrushchev.

Wednesday was Kennedy's worst in this field.

The Russians, following the kill-

tary-General Dag Hammarskjold be fired and indicated they might intervene in the Congo.

Kennedy warned the United States would back the United Nations against any "dangerous and irresponsible" intervention by anyone and then spoke hopefully of peace through improved relations with the Soviets.

Worked Until Wednesday

This was exactly the same sturdy-nice policy with Russia Kennedy laid down from the moment

dress. It seemed to be working, at least until Wednesday.

The Russians treated him mildly. And Khrushchev held his testy tongue.

But the President's problems with Congress are no less immediate. There, although his own

Democrats have a majority over the Republicans, the conservatives of both parties dominate.

And the Republican leaders have downgraded his plea for fast anti-recession action. It was in his State of the Union message

Jan. 30 that Kennedy tried to convey to Congress a sense of urgency at home and abroad.

He used phrases like these: "I speak . . . in an hour of national peril . . . each day the crises multiply . . . each day we draw nearer the hour of maximum danger. . . ."

Dirksen Critical

Wednesday the Washington Post said the Republicans' Senate leader, Everett Dirksen of Illinois, told them Kennedy's message had about as much impact on Congress as a "snowflake falling on

At his news conference Kennedy referred to that reported statement of Dirksen without referring

El Paso Mayor Seen Choice as Costa Rica Envoy

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Washing-

of El Paso Mayor Raymond Telles

as ambassador to Costa Rica is almost certain.

Telles says with a wry smile,

"word will have to come from Washington." He refuses to say even that the post has been offered to him. But he will say what his job would be if he was appointed.

"We need their help as much as they need ours," he said. "We are all friends and partners in the promotion of security for the entire hemisphere."

He was born a third generation

El Pasoan of Mexican descent 43 years ago. He was schooled in El Paso and was graduated from Texas Western College with a degree in business administration.

Telles has known President Kennedy since 1956 and met with the President again last year during the election campaign. He has al-

President Lyndon B. Johnson for many years.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The economy's most acute ailment today is unemployment.

President Kennedy is redoubling his efforts to relieve this in a series of temporary measures and a plea for quick congressional action on more deeply penetrating ones.

Pockets of sizable and often long persistent joblessness are found across the nation.

Others More Basic

They are both a cause and an effect of what the administration calls an out-and-out recession and the most potentially dangerous one since the depression of the 1930s. Joblessness is also the most dramatic of the domestic problems besetting the new administration, although others are more deep-seated and more basic.

Unemployment is always an effect of a recession. As sales drop, production falls, and with it the number of jobs or the number of hours in the work week.

In many instances these persistent unemployment pockets existed while the economy as a whole was still climbing. Yet their very existence, with their cut in buying power, helped to slow that climb.

And the increasing number of the jobless and their wider distribution around the nation speeded up the decline the over-all economy has shown for several months.

In some cases unemployment is a symptom of a long-term ailment in a specific industry—example, coal. In some cases it is attributed to changes in production methods — example, automation cutting the number of workers needed to produce the same amount of goods.

But much of today's high total — around 5.5 million out of work — is tied to the present business slowdown.

And the activity decline affects other fields than those plagued with chronic or cyclical unemployment.

At the same time employment as a whole across the United States is high and only slightly below its record peak.

This is because many industries — especially those in the field of services — are still booming. The big increase in population is one reason, and another is the greater role services play today in family desires and family budgets.

Dutchess Board Seeks New Bill For Land Sale

A resolution asking Dutchess county legislators to introduce legislation permitting the sale of 14.36 acres of farmlands on the property of the Hudson River State hospital to the county for the Dutchess Community College, was passed Tuesday by the Board of Supervisors.

The board of trustees of the college has requested the sale of the property. The resolution asks State Senator Ernest I. Hatfield and Assemblyman R. Watson Pomeroy to prepare the legislation.

Supervisor Robert I. Blinn, chairman of the county board, explained yesterday that if the county is committed to pay 50 per cent of the cost, the consideration would be about $300 to $500 an acre. He said that if the lands were accepted as park and recreation sites the county would be required to pay only 25 per cent.

Dr. James F. Hall, college president, said the trustees feel the land should be added to the 10 to 15 year expansion program in view of the fact the college will require expansion eventually.

Old Timer Is Still Good

By OSWALD JACOBY

This hand from Karpin's book is a real old-timer and has appeared in one form or another in every book on play and most bridge columns.

After East's opening heart bid South is certainly justified in bidding six spades. It looks as if a heart opening will give him 12 easy tricks.

When West opens the four of hearts and the five and three appear in dummy all South's visions of grandeur go up in smoke. Obviously, that four spot was a singleton and West is going to trump the heart return. What can South do about it? He has one chance. He must drop his king of hearts on East's ace.

Now what is East going to do? If East is a really great player and is particularly sharp this particular day he may reason to himself that South just would not have bid six with losers in his hand and that North's nine of spades and ace of diamonds represent a nice bonus just in case South held king-deuce of hearts. In that case East will lead a second heart and South will be down just as surely as if he had not tried the deceptive play.

On the other hand the chances are that East will look at his

380th Chemical Offers 6-Month Reserve Program

The 380th Chemical Maintenance Co., now located at the S/Sgt. Robert H. Dietz U. S. Army Reserve Center, 144 Flatbush Avenue, is now accepting qualified men for enlistment in the Army Reserve's six month active duty program.

According to Master Sergeant Thomas B. Connery the six month program has been a highly successful one and adds that the 380th has been given a priority rating.

The 380th, which meets every Tuesday at 8 p. m. at 144 Flatbush Avenue, is open to all young men 18½ years or older. Those who are accepted will attend six months of active duty for training and later have a five and a half year obligation to fulfill during which they attend weekly meetings for additional training.

Sgt. Connery points out, however, that the program is strictly on a quota basis with first come, first served.

The 380th is now accepting applications and those who qualify and wish to take advantage of this program at the present time can figure on entering their period of training during the next four months, the sergeant added.

Benefits of training with the 380th also were pointed out by Sgt. Connery.

He stressed that the company does maintenance repair work; utilizing a machine shop, welding shop and a mobile machine shop. Connery also pointed out the constant need for mechanics, vehicle drivers, supply specialists, cooks and administrative personnel.

Vacancies also exist at the present time within the unit and may be filled by prior servicemen who qualify. Many of these may be eligible to retain their former ranks, Sgt. Connery said.

Minus an 'O'

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Dr. Borge Bak, Danish physicist, got a chuckle from posters on the University of Oklahoma campus advertising the appearance of "Dr. Brge Bak." His name is spelled with a Danish letter which resembles an "o" with a line through it. Printers thought the line meant for the letter to be omitted—which they did.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Celebrate With This Cherry Cake

GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
If the small fry in your house want to chop down a cherry tree to celebrate Washington's birthday, tell them to "chop down" this wonderful Chocolate Mint Cherry Cake, instead.

Chocolate Mint Cherry Cake
1 package chocolate mint cake mix
1 pint whipping cream
1 packet of unflavored gelatin
2 tablespoons water
4 tablespoons cocoa
1/3 cup confectioners' sugar
1/2 cup chopped, drained maraschino cherries
Glaze cherries
Prepare chocolate mint cake mix according to package directions. Pour batter into two greased and floured 8-inch layer pans. Bake in preheated 350-degree F. oven 30 to 35 minutes, or until cake tests done. Cool in pans 10 minutes. Turn out; cool thoroughly.

Cocoa-Creme Filling and Frosting: Dissolve gelatin and water in small pan over hot water. Cool. Beat cream until stiff. Fold in cooled gelatin, cocoa and sugar. Spread bottom cake layer with generous amount cocoa-whipped cream. Sprinkle with chopped, drained cherries. Top with second cake layer. Frost sides and top with remaining cocoa-cream. Stud top with whole glaze cherries. Refrigerate until ready to serve.

HANDSOME chocolate cherry mint cake is made for celebrating Washington's birthday. Frosting is cocoa-cream.

Vehicle Bureau Lists Violations

Three local driver license revocations and one suspension for major causes during the last half of January were listed today by the Department of Motor Vehicles.

They are:
Licenses revoked for conviction of driving while intoxicated, Ronald E. Gedney, 194 Wall Street and Paul Jones, 63 East Strand, both of Kingston, and Winifred W. Moore, Box 267, River Road, New Paltz.

License revoked for conviction of three speeding violations within 18 months, Michael Rashbaum, RD 1, Trailer Haven, Kingston.

License suspended 30 days as of Jan. 22 for persistent violations under the points system, William Muellner of Woodstock.

Communism About as Welcome as Revived Slave Trade

Leftists Unlikely to Pull Congo Into Red Column Without Arms Aid

Editor's Note — Lynn Heinzerling spent nearly four years in Africa covering the rise of African nationalism. He was in the Congo for the independence celebrations last June and July and watched the rise to power of Patrice Lumumba and his associates.

By LYNN HEINZERLING
LONDON (AP)—When the last window has been shattered in Belgian diplomatic missions, Moscow will still have to face sober reality in the Congo.

The former Belgian colony astride the equator is not a Korea with a Communist power on its border. It is not a Hungary, where Soviet tanks could build their way to control, or a Finland or a Poland.

The Soviet Union, in trying to set up Antoine Gizenga as its puppet ruler of the Congo, is dealing with one of the remaining primitive areas of the world — and a very large one.

The smart cities built by the Belgians, the rich copper and diamond mines, the vast plantations now disintegrating, camouflage a tribal society about as receptive to communism as it would be to a revived slave trade.

Perhaps 80 per cent of the 14 million Congolese recognize no more formal authority than their tribal chiefs and headmen. Had the central government in Leopoldville functioned smoothly from the start last July, it is doubtful that this situation would have changed much.

Try Is Sheer Fantasy

To believe that a handful of leftists like Gizenga and Anicet Kashimura, the other chief Lumumba lieutenant in the northern Congo, could swing the huge, chaotic area into the Communist camp without massive military assistance is sheer fantasy.

There are more than 60 major ethnic groups in the Congo and hundreds of tribes and clans. Any outside power seeking to make an impression on this mass of incomprehending, primitive people will face almost the same difficult task that confronted the Belgians when they moved into the Congo more than 75 years ago.

When the Belgians lifted their restrictions on political parties in 1959, parties sprouted all over the country, nearly 100 within a year, based on tribal groups and clans and combinations of tribal groups and clans. Organizations headed by Patrice Lumumba and President Joseph Kasavubu were somewhat more sophisticated, but they too, were based on tribal loyalties.

The combinations of parties that finally emerged for the parliamentary elections organized by the Belgians made it obvious that no Congolese leader had anything like a clear and unimpeachable mandate. Lumumba emerged as the top man because he was the most persuasive orator, the most politically minded and the fastest man with a trade.

The Soviet move for the United Nations and the remaining Belgians to quit the Congo within a month can only be a maneuver to deprive the anti-Communist governments of the only experts and technicians they can rely on, and to create complete chaos — the classic prologue to Communist infiltration.

Irate Motorist Takes Law Into His Own Hands

DETROIT (AP) — Ronald Cadotta, 25, resented a speeding ticket after passing a police electronic "speedwatch."

He painted the words "speed trap" on a large cardboard and stationed his car about 500 feet from the speedwatch. Every time a motorist came along, Cadotta stepped from his car and flashed the sign.

Patrolmen investigated. As their car approached, Cadotta flashed the sign.

Cadotta was charged Wednesday with "displaying of advertising devices which affect the conduct of persons as to jeopardize or impede vehicular or pedestrian traffic."

He received a suspended sentence.

Angelos Tuesday. The fruit continues to be in excellent condition and of high color, he said.

New York State resorted to science and advertising in developing an outlet for apples in California, according to the Associated Press.

Move West by Carload

As a result, New York McIntosh apples are moving to California in carload lots for the first time in 35 years, the New York Agriculture Department reports.

The long ban was due to California's strict system of disease and insect-inspection of imported farm and nursery products.

In the case of apples, California asked assurance that they be free of worms and other bugs.

Met Test Readily

McIntosh apples met the test easily because they are suitable for cold storage under a controlled atmosphere of reduced oxygen.

Controlled - atmosphere storage, used by New York growers for several years, extends the storage life of apples beyond normal cold storage and assures supplies of fresh apples in off-seasons.

As a side effect, the low oxygen content in the system kills insects.

After the apples were approved, New York launched an advertising campaign in California and, the agriculture department said Wednesday, a market developed.

Financial and Commercial

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market pushed a strong rally into the third straight session with trading heavy early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .90 to 235.80 with industrials up 1.30, rails up .90 and utilities up .30.

Steels, motors, rails and chemicals were among gainers. Key stocks advanced from fractions to a point or more.

American Telephone was delayed almost two hours in opening due to a pile up of buy orders resulting from its setting of a price of $86 per share on its stock rights offering. One share of stock may be purchased at that price for each 20 shares.

AT&T common rose 3 points to 113 3/4.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.56 at 650.45.

Kingston, Towns, Villages to Share $131,185 State Aid

Kingston, the townships and villages of Ulster County will share $131,185.90 allocated by the state as per capita assistance in the fourth quarterly installment for distribution totaling $10,967,740.62, by the State Department of Audit and Control, Albany, announced today.

Under special law, New York City received per capita aid in the amount of $13,294,140.18 in January.

The checks were mailed to the fiscal officers of the state's 61 cities, 550 villages and 932 towns.

Unlike other types of state aid, which are granted for specific purposes such as education, highways and health, the per capita aid can be used for any general municipal purpose.

This payment is allocated to the local units of government on a per capita basis, determined in part on the 1950 federal census and in part on results of special censuses taken in 1957, 1958 and 1959.

Each city receives annually the sum of $6.75 times the total population, towns receive $3.55 for each inhabitant, and villages $3 per person.

The payment was the last for the current fiscal year. There are several bills before the Legislature to increase the amounts.

Thruway Body

Bissell and Bronkie, a consulting engineering firm in Buffalo, N.Y., is an associate member of the firm.

The senior Tallamy is a former chairman of the Thruway authority.

He was retained as a consultant, Bixby said, "because he is the best qualified man in the entire United States to undertake the assignment."

Of Tallamy's son, Bixby said, he is a licensed engineer "and fully competent to perform such services as his firm may assign to him."

Bixby, who is treasurer of the Republican State Committee, said the authority knew Tallamy's son was associated with the Buffalo firm when it signed the contract.

A Thruway spokesman said all Thruway expenditures are audited by the state comptroller's office, headed by Arthur Levitt, a Democrat.

The spokesman added: "We're not going to give Bert Tallamy $200,000 and say, 'Go and have a good time.'"

Measure Proposes

from Watertown to Plattsburgh. It would connect the Penn-Can Expressway and the Northway.

The growth of agriculture, industry, mining and forestry in that area "makes it imperative that this Northern Tier Expressway be undertaken," McEwen said.

Assemblyman Verner M. Ingram, R-Potsdam, introduced an identical bill.

A bill to protect homeowners against the loss of down payments for improvements or repairs on their property was submitted on behalf of State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz.

The measure, introduced by Sen. D. Clinton Dominick III, R-Orange, and Assemblyman Willis H. Stephens, R-Putnam, would require that a deposit be kept intact until work began.

If the work were not completed, the deposit would have to be returned to the homeowner or divided by agreement.

Paltz Woman Fined

A New Paltz woman arrested for leaving the scene of an accident early this morning in the Village of Rosendale, pleaded guilty and paid a $100 fine imposed by Village Police Justice Wilfred Doolittle who revoked her driver's license following a mishap involving two parked vehicles and her own, Kingston state police reported.

Troopers said Janet Wentto, 38, operating a 1955 sedan on James Street, Rosendale, was proceeding east when in collision with two parked cars and continued on without stopping.

Troopers David Wachtel and Carl Steenburg discovered the vehicle Janet Wentto was driving abandoned near Tillson and she was apprehended in New Paltz.

The parked cars are owned by Bruce Miller, a 1956 sedan, and Edward Hill, a 1957 sedan, both reside on James Street.

The mishap occurred at approximately 12 midnight.

Jail Soup Explodes

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A 40-gallon pot of vegetable soup blew up at city jail Wednesday, spraying the ceiling, walls and floors.

Excessive steam pressure was blamed.

The inmates finally sat down to a soupless lunch—beans, bacon, bread and tea.

Col. Chandler

Wayne County, and that community sent greetings.

Many Accomplishments

In presenting Col. Chandler, the program director touched upon the many accomplishments of the honored member in the fields of medicine, army service, civilian duty and the arts.

Responding to the many tributes, Col. Chandler said that his father was a Methodist minister and they were required to move every one of two years and so he had come to know about many cities. Not one of these communities could compare with Kingston, he said. Down through the years there has been something very substantial about Kingston, he concluded.

Kennedy Returns GOP Snowflake

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy picked up Sen. Everett M. Dirksen's snowflake Wednesday night and threw it back at the Senate Republican leader.

Dirksen remarked recently that Kennedy's State of the Union message had all the impact on Congress "of a snowflake falling on the bosom of the Potomac."

At his news conference, Kennedy declared the country is in a recession. Calling it a "plateau" is no excuse for not taking action, he said, and he expressed hope his recommendations would have more effect than a snowflake on the Potomac.

No Word Given On Orbit for Scout Rocket

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States put up a 12-foot balloon type space vehicle today but 3 1/2 hours later officials could not say whether it had gone into orbit around the earth.

By that time the sphere, hurled up from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's station at Wallops Island, Va., should have been far into its second "zip around the planet."

NASA officials said they had confirmed that the fourth stage of the "poor man's rocket" which launched the plastic and aluminum balloon had gone into orbit.

The trial was a big league test for the scout rocket, a major reliance of this country in the space race with Russia.

Success would mean two U.S. firsts:

Achievement of orbit with a launching vehicle using the cheaper and easier-to-handle solid propellants that would eliminate many of the headaches of earlier launchings.

Successful placement of a satellite in orbit from a launching site other than Cape Canaveral, Fla., or the Pacific missile range on the Southern California coast.

NASA said confirmation of orbit for the rocket casing "was based on acquisition of the tracking beacon on the casing by the Johns Hopkins (South Africa) minitrac station on its second pass (around the earth)."

Hopes for full success had run high from the first minutes after the 72-foot four-stage rocket roared aloft at 8:05 a.m. EST.

Other Topics

Rocket Boosters—The Soviet Union is ahead of the United States in development of super-boosters capable of hurling the Soviets' Venus-bound vehicle into space, and this "is a matter of great concern." While indications are, the President added, that the Soviet Union will remain ahead in this field for some time unless there is a U. S. scientific breakthrough, "we have sufficiently large boosters to protect us militarily."

Cuba—Obviously alluding to the Eisenhower administration, Kennedy said the government probably miscalculated in assessing the Castro regime in Cuba. "But," he added, "I have no evidence that anyone did it out of any motive but to serve the United States."

Soviet Union—Despite current tension over the Congo, Kennedy expressed hope "real progress can be made this year" toward improvement of Soviet-American relations. He called anew for cooperation in peaceful ventures rather than "differing on matters which carry with them such hazards."

Ties With El Salvador

El Salvador—Kennedy announced the United States has extended diplomatic recognition to the three-week-old government of El Salvador.

Burke—Kennedy said he now is "happier than ever" about his policy of requiring advance clearance of national defense statements and speeches made by government officials. The President made that remark—and drew another round of laughter—in discussing sharp comment on Soviet-American relations in an interview granted by Adm. Arleigh Burke chief of naval operations.

The interview occurred, Kennedy said, on Jan. 12—eight days before the new administration took office.

Havana Rally Cooled Off by Daring Raid

HAVANA (AP) — Daring anti-Castro bombers invaded a demonstration protesting the slaying of Patrice Lumumba Wednesday night and created an uproar with two loud explosions. No one was hurt and the bombers apparently weren't caught.

The blasts sent the crowd of 5,000, on the Havana University campus to honor the former Congo premier, into a frenzy of shouting — mostly against the United States.

Changes at Studebaker Shouldn't Affect Stock

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q: "I am very much interested in Studebaker-Packard common. (1) Has the management recently been changed to younger people? (2) Did the company recently receive a $3,000,000 government contract? (3) Is Studebaker-Packard diversifying? (4) What do you think of this stock as a speculative investment into which I could put about $1,000?" W. S. A.

A: I should like to congratulate you on your intelligent approach to a speculative investment. Your first three questions have some bearing on the merits of S-P. Let me discuss them in order.

Yes, the company is bringing younger men into management. Effective February 1st, Sherwood H. Egbert, age 40, succeeded Clarence Francis, age 71, as chief executive officer.

Yes, the company recently did receive a $3,000,000 contract from the General Services Administration for 2,000 Larks.

Yes, S-P is diversifying, but to such a moderate extent that it seems unlikely to have any effect on earnings for some time to come. Three relatively small acquisitions were made in 1960. This matter has been a bone of contention amongst two S-P factions—one advocating wide open diversification while the other, of which President Francis and his successor were members, favoring a more moderate program of acquiring companies closely associated with the auto industry.

My answer to your last question, I'm afraid, is not so favorable. In my opinion, Studebaker's earnings will continue to depend mainly on compact car sales—a field in which it is heavily outclassed by four stronger competitors. Profits last year were probably very low, and they may shrink again in 1961. I have consistently recommended March 8, 1960, when they sold around 15. I see no reason to change my opinion now.

Q: "What is the outlook for our Weyerhaeuser Company shares?" F. G.

A: This is probably the largest timber producer in the world, but earnings have shown little growth over the past five years. However, acquisition of Roddis Plywood and a better climate for construction could brighten the picture considerably. Hold your shares for eventual improvement.

noted that faster outlay of these funds will have to be implemented by state and local governments, and disclosed he had dispatched telegrams to all state governors urging a speed-up.

Changes Regulations

Also, the President said, the government is changing its regulations to make more small business firms eligible for defense contracts.

Kennedy's news conference—his fourth since taking office—was broadcast live on nationwide television and radio. He was solemn for the most part, but on a couple of occasions he joined in laughter touched off by questions or by his reply.

Kennedy had this to say on other matters:

Rocket Boosters—The Soviet Union is ahead of the United States in development of super-boosters capable of hurling the Soviets' Venus-bound vehicle into space, and this "is a matter of great concern." While indications are, the President added, that the Soviet Union will remain ahead in this field for some time unless there is a U. S. scientific breakthrough, "we have sufficiently large boosters to protect us militarily."

Cuba—Obviously alluding to the Eisenhower administration, Kennedy said the government probably miscalculated in assessing the Castro regime in Cuba. "But," he added, "I have no evidence that anyone did it out of any motive but to serve the United States."

Soviet Union—Despite current tension over the Congo, Kennedy expressed hope "real progress can be made this year" toward improvement of Soviet-American relations. He called anew for cooperation in peaceful ventures rather than "differing on matters which carry with them such hazards."

Ties With El Salvador

El Salvador—Kennedy announced the United States has extended diplomatic recognition to the three-week-old government of El Salvador.

Burke—Kennedy said he now is "happier than ever" about his policy of requiring advance clearance of national defense statements and speeches made by government officials. The President made that remark—and drew another round of laughter—in discussing sharp comment on Soviet-American relations in an interview granted by Adm. Arleigh Burke chief of naval operations.

The interview occurred, Kennedy said, on Jan. 12—eight days before the new administration took office.

Havana Rally Cooled Off by Daring Raid

HAVANA (AP) — Daring anti-Castro bombers invaded a demonstration protesting the slaying of Patrice Lumumba Wednesday night and created an uproar with two loud explosions. No one was hurt and the bombers apparently weren't caught.

White Horse Inn Sale Announced

The well known White Horse Inn, a Woodstock landmark for several years, has been sold to Frank Blankowitz and Karl Latsch of New York City. The White Horse Inn is located at the intersection of Route 375 and the Maverick Road in Woodstock.

The new owners are also proprietors of "Frank's Little Village" restaurant in Manhattan and well known in the restaurant world. They have taken possession of the White Horse Inn and are operating the business. They intend to enlarge the dining facilities and make improvements.

Ill health was the reason given by the former owners for selling the attractive property. The sale was negotiated through the Frederick Dircks real estate agency of Woodstock.

Overlook Church News and Notes

Prayer will be emphasized during the month of February in Overlook Methodist Church in Woodstock. The Lenten season calls us to examine ourselves and to prepare our spiritual resources for the days ahead. It is through the means and power of prayer that we are best able to do this.

The Rev. James Cook, pastor, will preach this Sunday on the topic: "Lord, Teach Us to Pray." The text is from Luke 11:1-13.

Meeting Notices

The Pastor's Membership Class will meet in the church hall tonight at 7:30 p. m. The executive committee of the Women's Society of Christian Service will meet the same evening at 7:50 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Miriam Fox of Hurley Ridge.

World Day of Prayer will be observed with services in Christ Lutheran Church, Friday, Feb. 17, at 2 p. m. A nursery for this service will be provided at the Reformed Church annex. Friday evening at 8 p. m. the men of Overlook Church will meet to discuss the future of the Methodist Men. An election of officers will be held at that time. All the men of the church are invited and urged to attend this meeting. Refreshments will be served. The first in the series of Union Lenten Services will be held in Woodstock Reformed Church Sunday at 7 p. m.

Ben Johnson Exhibit Is Held at New Paltz

A four-day exhibition of paintings by Woodstock artist, Ben Johnson, attracted large crowds in the College Union of the State University College of Education, New Paltz.

The exhibition started with an opening tea on Sunday in the College Union Lounge. The principal form of art through which Johnson probes his subject matter is the human figure. In his paintings, the human figure is a media and a springboard for dealing with emotions and feelings and also for exploring the problems of space.

A recent review in the New York Post had the following quotation by Bennett Schiff: "It is as proud, alive and flinging a presence as a Siamese cat. It is the work of Ben Johnson and I would like to say immediately that he is the first objective painter since Modigliani and Matisse to treat the subjects with such glorious freshness, individuality and decorative sensuousness."

Sales Announced By Riding Club

Arthur Vos of Peter Pan Farm in High Woods has announced the purchase of Kinkade, gray 14-hand stock pony, formerly owned by Tinker Twine of Woodstock. Kinkade will bring the total of horses at the Peter Pan Farm to five and like the others will be ridden by children visiting the farm next summer.

On the same day Tinker Twine announced the purchase of Sir Echo, 15 hand grey Arabian from Miss Ronnie Smith of Stamford, N. Y. Miss Smith has successfully shown Sir Echo as a jumper at AHSA shows in Syracuse and Troy. Tinker hopes to train him for hunting.

Also on the same busy day Miss Susan Greene of Glasco Turnpike announced the purchase of Lady Jay, sorrel mare, in foal, from Mr. Keator of Binnewater. Lady Jay is expected May 11. The sire is a registered quarter horse, Lady Jay, before belonging to Mr. Keator, was owned by Mrs. Joan Wells of Woodstock. Miss Greene intends to change her new horse's name, but as yet has not decided what it will be.

University Women Set Feb. 22 Meeting

The next meeting of the Woodstock group of the American Association of University Women will meet at the home of Mrs. John Erickson, Woodstock Park, on Wednesday, Feb. 22.

The subject will be: "Music of Central and South America." Interesting folk, instrumental and vocal recordings have been acquired. Persons interested are cordially invited to attend.

DISCUSS CITY CAMPAIGN — S. James Matthews, left, city chairman for the Red Cross fund drive, observes as county campaign chairman Wilbur R. Peters points to the city area which is now being organized for the March fund drive.

Attorney S. James Matthews Heads Red Cross City Drive

The appointment of S. James Matthews, Kingston attorney, to the position of city chairman for the 1961 annual Red Cross fund raising campaign, was announced today by Ulster County campaign chairman Wilbur R. Peters.

Matthews, who resides at 95 Harding Avenue, has been practicing law in Kingston since 1952 and has been active in both local and state activities.

He is currently organizing the forthcoming fund drive with Kingston ward chairmen and he will be responsible for coordinating the individual city ward campaigns during March.

Matthews said, "The Red Cross subsists on voluntary contributions of time, work and funds and if this agency, including the local chapter, is to continue to provide for disaster relief and its other responsibilities, we must continue to support this vital program."

He attended the State College of Forestry at Syracuse University and graduated from Albany Law School in 1952. He is married to the former Dorothy Shelley and has two daughters, Shelley and Patricia.

In 1954 Matthews was chairman of the Salvation Army fund drive and during 1956-57 he was county chairman of the Heart Fund campaign.

In 1956 he was honored by the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce as the "Young Man of the Year."

Matthews is a past director of the Rotary Club, he is vice chairman of the New York State Fish and Wildlife Management Board and vice president of the New York Conservation Council.

8 Negroes Face Charge, 5 After Police Scuffle

SUMTER, S.C. (AP) — Eight Negro college students face charges here as the result of anti-segregation protests, five of them after a brief scuffle with police Wednesday.

The other three were arrested Tuesday along with a white television cameraman. The National Broadcasting System has denied a druggist's charge that it instigated a sit-in at his store to get film for an NBC news program.

J. H. Lawson, the druggist, claimed the sit-in attempt Tuesday resulted from the presence of George Carras, 36, cameraman-reporter for television station WSOC-TV in Charlotte, N.C., and Boyce Stradley, 46, also of Charlotte, pilot of a charter plane that flew Carras to Sumter.

Carras and Stradley have been released in bonds of $100 each for trial Monday on breach of peace charges.

A scuffle broke out Wednesday when some 300 students on a six-block march from Morris College to downtown Sumter were met by police. Five students were arrested.

They and the three arrested previously appeared in recorder's court and were granted a delay of their trials until next Tuesday.

Koenig Ends Course

Army 2d Lt. Anthony J. Koenig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Koenig, 116 Andrew Street, completed the eight-week officer orientation course Feb. 7 at the Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga. The course is designed to familiarize newly-commissioned officers with the duties and responsibilities of an infantry unit commander. The Infantry School constantly prepares a better infantry for our Army by training and developing the leadership qualities of combat commanders. The 22-year-old officer is a 1956 graduate of Kingston High School and a 1960 graduate of Boston (Mass.) College.

All eight were charged with breach of peace, and two are charged additionally with resisting arrest. The five taken into custody after the march was broken up are:

Joshua Prieleau, 21, Russellville, S. C.; Alpha Gregg, 26, Washingtonville, N. Y.; Clifford B. Sumner, 21, Waycross, Ga.; David Rayon Jr., 20, Marion, S. C.; and Abraham Kennedy, 29, Sumter.

All eight students were released under bond. Breach of the peace and resisting arrest can each carry a $100 fine or 30 days in jail.

YALLUM'S ANNUAL WHITE ELEPHANT SALE

ONCE MORE—KINGSTON'S MOST HONEST SALE—People called this a real gasser last year. But they're trouble-makers—delighting in our problem of overstock—and our being stuck with stuff we never should have bought. Many of you will laugh at the low sale prices; some of you will laugh at the merchandise. The latter group, we will deal with in our own way. Come in—browse. We challenge you to get something you really want. Remember, to list us as a charitable deduction, you must buy from us!

SOME OF THE ELEPHANTS ON SALE!

MEN'S SPORT JACKETS

All corduroy. Big deal! That's what the salesman told us. We've got enough of them to outfit those poor guys who rowed across the Delaware with Washington.

$9.99

TRAVEL IRONS

With cords, to hang ourselves.

LITTLE GIRLS' SNO BOOTS

You wouldn't think it so funny if you were stuck with them. Look, they cost less than a decent pair of house slippers.

HURRICANE LAMPS

Electric, of course. It'll probably take a big wind to get these out of the store. Carry one and fool people into thinking you're Diogenes.

1/2 ZIPPER SWEAT SHIRTS

Give in this year! Last year we tried unlacing them, but you wouldn't bite. Definitely last year to be offered, regardless. Small, medium only.

97c

SHOE TREES

A good way to cultivate an unusual orchard. Or whatever else you can think to do with them.

37c

WOMEN'S PLASTIC RAINBOOTS

It would take us a year of April showers to unload this carload. Pour concrete in them and use for doorstops.

97c

BROKEN FLASHLIGHTS

Ideal for the hobbyist; remember, tinkering is instructive. We think these were defective from the start. They make fine cases in which to store extra batteries. . . .

10c

BOYS' POLO AND FLANNEL SHIRTS

Even horses have shuddered at the thought of having these thrown over their backs. Their loss, your gain.

50c

BEER QUEEN GLASSES

Set of 4. Rest inducing. Glass holds full 16 oz. Obviates frequent trips to the cooler.

37c

POTATO CUTTERS

For French fries. Wait'll we get that smart-guy salesman who talked us into these!

87c

DACRON INSULATED HOODED JACKETS

Warm—yes! Practical—yes! Washable—Yes! Sell—NO! They were supposed to fit men, but—anyone know any real small men?

MEN'S STORM RUBBERS

We sell these only in pairs. One left—and usually a right. If you have two left feet, you're still out of luck.

ATHLETIC SOX IN COLORS

Not really fast color, but on the racy side. They're a terrific buy. Could always make them double as mittens. Wool mostly.

69c

CHILD'S PLASTIC BOOTS

Unlined. When we saw all that snow we re-ordered. So, who turned up the heat?

DOUBLE RUNNER ICE SKATES

Even Tab Hunter had to learn. This is not to say he endorses them. But we bet he'd admit, skates work best on ice. Sizes 9-12.

MEN'S SLIPOVER SWEATERS

We kept last fall, when it was so warm. We kept to see them sit on the shelf. We'll weep, even more, when you buy them at our money-losing price.

You can't always be lucky and sell out of an item completely. Maybe you want to help, huh? Tri-tens turret.

35MM STILL CAMERA (just 2)

1:3.5 lens. New, too!

MA-PA COFFEE MUGS

Achieve togetherness in your family. Can also be used for paperweights. Can also be used for overnight soaking of teeth.

C of C Meets Monday

The February meeting of the Wallkill Chamber of Commerce will be held Monday, Feb. 20, beginning with a pot luck dinner 6:30 p. m. in the high school cafeteria. The finance committee, Claude L. Decker, George Vogel and Catherine Miller, will make the dinner arrangements. Members attending will bring a covered dish adequate for their family, and their own place settings. The chamber will furnish rolls, coffee and dessert.

George W. Parliaman, program chairman has secured Kenneth Hasbrouck as speaker of the evening. He will talk on the History of the Community of Wallkill and Its People.

Members may attend and bring their families.

Dimes March Results

Mrs. Wesley Witheral, chairman of the Town of Shawangunk March of Dimes announces that returns are not yet complete. The Mothers March in Wallkill netted $149.55, and mailers that are still being received have equaled that sum. Returns from Walker Valley have not been completed due to the inclement weather.

Mrs. Frederick C. Terwilliger, chairman of the Mothers March expresses her appreciation to the following mothers for their cooperation in the March: The Mmes. Lee Totman, Richard Sherman, Harry Keator, Edward Edsall, Lloyd Kniffen, Charles White, John Velders, John Yukoweic, Raymond Dunnigan, Charles Mullen, Robert Terwilliger, Joseph Vogel, Joseph Morris, Edward O'Mara, Thomas Bellerosa, Stanford Krom, Ellis Masten, Joseph Doolittle, and Robert Auchmoody.

The Womens Bible Study Group will hold its regular meeting Tuesday evening, Feb. 21, at 8 p. m. in the Wallkill Reformed Church Hall. Devotions will be led by Miss Helen Lyons, and the Bible Word is Earth. Hostess for the evening is Mrs. Robert Terwilliger.

Home Unit Meets

The Wallkill Home Demonstration Unit will hold its next meeting, Tuesday, Feb. 21, at 11 a. m. in the Community Room of the Valley National Bank. Mrs. Henry Ohland will give her second lesson on Decorative Pillows. Members will bring pillow material and all essential sewing equipment.

At 2 p. m., Mrs. Willard Walker of the welfare office in Kingston will speak on the duties and accomplishments of the Ulster County Welfare Program. A question and answer period will follow.

The Wallkill Unit is also planning now for the March meeting which will be a food demonstration by the home economist from Central Hudson.

Women's Club Notes

At a recent meeting of the Wallkill Woman's Club, Mrs. Howard Smith, president, read an article on Safety Fire Rehearsals in the Home. She also reported on her attendance at a dinner given by the Walden Chamber of Commerce. Questionnaires received at the meeting were distributed to members.

A donation to the health center for immunization against polio for school children was also voted.

Mrs. Walter Wallack and Mrs.

J. A. McClung were appointed to present a slate of officers at the next meeting. Election will be held in March.

Mrs. Leslie Edsall introduced Joseph Laddick, decorator for the Burgers Furniture Store, Newburgh. He gave an interesting talk on carpets and drapes. Refreshments were served by the Mmes. Henry Ohland, Harold Shaw, William McKinney and Charles E. Penney.

Legion Auxiliary Notes

At the regular meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of Rose-Sheley Post, American Legion, Monday evening, Mrs. George Flockhart, president, presided.

Committee reports from the chairmen, showed that for the Americanism Committee, two flags were donated to the Wallkill Central School, with a value of $7. The American Legion Mountain Camp, Hostess Fund reported a donation made of $11 and cancer control committee reported that four members had put in 18 hours making cancer dressings. Coupon chairman had a total coupons of 197, and the chaplain reported that card, flowers and fruit donations had been $10 this past month.

The group heard two articles on Pan American Study and National Security.

It was announced that a penny social is being planned for early in April.

Following the meeting, a social was held with Gertrude Cameron and Gertrude Eckert as hostesses for the evening.

Events Scheduled

The regular monthly meeting of the Wallkill Girl Scout Association will be held Monday 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. George Lampart. Members will note the change in place.

The Rosary Altar Society of St. Benedict's Church will hold its regular monthly meeting

Tuesday, 8 p. m. at the Community Room of the Valley National Bank.

The Town of Shawangunk Democratic Club members are in the final stages of planning for the annual masquerade dance. It will be held Saturday, Feb. 25, at 1776 Colonial Inn with music by the Colonials. Ticket chairman is Larry Mower. Costumes and masks are optional but only those so attired will be eligible for awards.

Reformed Church Notes

During the Wallkill Reformed Church school on Sunday, new American and Christian Flags were dedicated to the memory of Mrs. Elizabeth B. Van Wagenen, a faithful worker with the young of the Sunday school. They were presented by Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Dunn, who attended the special service.

Climaxing a week of Boy Scout activities some members of Troop 76 of the Wallkill Boy Scout Association, took part in the ceremony, under the direction of Fred C. Terwilliger. The program opened with the song, and the old flags carried by Scouts David Doolittle and Kenneth Eerlyann, were retired. The new flags were presented by Scouts Charles and Jeffrey Morris. Scout Robert Terwilliger gave a brief history of the American Flag, after which the Pledge of Allegiance was given. History of the Christian Flag was given by Scout Robert Mooney. The group then gave the Christian Pledge of Allegiance. Concluding the service was a dedicatory prayer given by the Rev. Walter N. Van Popering, pastor, and the singing of a song.

World Day of Prayer will be observed in the Wallkill Reformed Church, Friday, 8 p. m. under the direction of the Women's Missionary Society. The Rev. Paul G. Behling, minister of Trinity Lutheran Church of Walden will conduct the service. The choir under the direction of Mrs. Louise Didsbury

Thursday, junior choir will have a regular rehearsal and at 7:30 p. m. the senior choir will hold its regular rehearsal.

Sunday, 10 a. m. regular Sunday school services will be held. Morning worship service will follow at 11 a. m. At 8 p. m., the first union Lenten service will be held at the Wallkill Church. The Rev. Wilhelm Haysom, pastor of New Hurley Reformed Church, will be the speaker.

Saturday, Feb. 25, beginning at 10 a. m., the Willing Workers will hold a food sale, the first in the series they are planning.

Community Notes

Mrs. Jean Spoth is convalescing following a major operation at Horton Memorial Hospital.

Tiny Tots

Offspring of the common opossum are hardly bigger than a honeybee at birth. The babies scramble into their mother's pouch and remain there until they are big enough to thrive in the outside world.

Airman Exonerated In Daughter's Death

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (AP) — An airman has been found innocent on a first-degree manslaughter charge in connection with the death of his six-week-old daughter.

Airman 2. C. William J. Nayavich, 20, of Niagara Falls, was exonerated Wednesday by an all-male Niagara County jury which deliberated more than two hours.

Nayavich was accused of slapping Tina Marie last Nov. 14. She died the following day in a hospital of a cerebral hemorrhage.

Costly Omission

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Fred R. Frederico, 39, of Tucson reported his car stolen. Later he located the vehicle but forgot to notify officers. Four months later Tucson policeman Elbert Meeks spotted the vehicle and forced the driver to the curb. Frederico not only had to prove the car was his but he was charged with driving on a revoked license.

Brands Remain

DENVER (AP)—Most of the open range is gone in Colorado, but not the cattle brands. Orin Corn, a state brand inspector, says more than 40,000 cattle-men's marks still are registered in Colorado. Corn estimates he has looked at the brands of a million head of cattle in the Denver stockyards since he quit farming in western Colorado and took an inspector's job in 1951.

Shutdown of Bay State Textile Industry Adds to Jobless Woes

EDITORS NOTE: The textile industry is the key to unemployment in Massachusetts. In the following article, last of a series covering a tour of the depressed labor areas of the country, Nate Polowetzky, AP's assistant general business editor, tells the New England story.

By NATE POLOWETZKY

BOSTON (AP)—In tracing the growth and development of depressed areas in Massachusetts, all roads ultimately lead back to one point—the textile industry.

In dozens of communities along the rivers and canals of the bay state, mills that once clothed the nation and provided the bread for tens of thousands of families now stand idle, or have been abandoned, pulled down or converted into warehouses.

The looms are quiet and thousands of textile workers are out of jobs.

Workers Hard Hit

While other industries are contributing to the state's current over-all unemployment it is the textile industry, primarily, which has provided chronic joblessness.

Despite the significant growth of new industries, creating new jobs, the out of work textile men, especially the elderly among them, face the prospect of continued unemployment.

Prof. William H. Miernyk,

Northeastern University economist and one of the recognized authorities on depressed areas and the New England textile industry says: "A national upswing in the economy will not solve the problem. Some of these people face the tragedy of never going back to work—the older ones particularly."

The unemployment picture in Massachusetts as a whole, however, is a rosy one, compared with such hard hit "depressed area" states as Michigan, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Benefits Exhausted

Latest figures show that 148,734 persons were drawing unemployment benefits in the week ended Jan. 28. Thousands of others have exhausted their benefits and one source estimated that 180,000 persons in all were unemployed last month.

There may be more "hidden unemployed." Those people, especially textile workers, who have stopped seeking jobs through hopelessness and are now being taken care of by their children's earnings.

All in all, Massachusetts had an unemployment rate of between 7 and 8 per cent last month, compared with the nationwide figure of some 7 per cent.

Detroit Jobs Scarce

(But in Detroit, alone, almost as many persons are out of work as in the entire state of Massachusetts).

State Orders Signs Erected in 2 Towns

The State Traffic Commission today issued orders for the erection of stop and yield signs in the Town of Shandaken and establishment of a 30 mile an hour speed limit in the hamlet of Highland, according to William S. Hulls, commission chairman.

The orders for the Town of Shandaken provide for the allocation of the center lane of the three lane section of Route 28 for traffic proceeding in a northerly direction; erection of stop signs on the Big Indian parking area road, Big Indian Road, two parking area roads and two connections between Route 42 and Route 28 at Route 28; erection of yield signs on Old Route 28 and Belloyre Mountain Road at Route 28 and on old Route 28 and Elm Street at Route 28 in the village of Pine Hill.

The commission also ordered a yield sign on the old alignment of Routes 23 and 145 at that intersection in the Town of Cairo, Greene County, and designated a short section of the old alignment for one way traffic.

Mt. Marion

MT. MARION—Mr. and Mrs. H. Pryce and sons, Douglas and Bradley, of Schenectady, spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Antalek.

The Mission Circle will meet at the home of Mrs. Charles Maxfield Thursday night. The program will be on World Missions.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren T. Myer and son, Peter, of Monsey, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Francis Myer.

Girl Scout Troop 66 will meet at the church hall Thursday 6 p. m. Mrs. Griffin Holloran is leader.

Mr. and Mrs. James O'Hara and sons, Kevin and Michael, of Hurley spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. William Myer.

The junior youth fellowship will meet at the Plattekill Reformed Church parsonage, Mt. Marion, Friday 6:15 p. m.

Anne Van Etten of Saugerties spent the weekend with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Myer.

Assisting at church services Sunday in the Plattekill Reformed Church were Boy Scouts Ronald MacRae, George Aplus-till, Orman Leighton, Glen Van Benschoten, Alan Larsen, Edward Borgen, Bruce Leighton, Gregory Myers, Henry Reinewald, Terry Van Benschoten and Joseph Kraus.

The White House was first occupied by the family of John Adams in 1800.

Southpaws Save?

Aging Elopers

EMPALME, Mexico (AP)—Manuel Garcia, 40, reported to police that his mother, Elsa, 60, had disappeared. "But I am not too worried," he told officers, "because I have reason to believe she has eloped with a neighborhood boy friend, Felipe Arriaga." Arriaga is 70.

MEN! FINAL WEEK!

Spending money and saving money is a serious business

"Robert Hall makes and sells for cash, more men's suits and coats than any other clothier in America."

Why?

Because...

we save—you save.

- No credit charges
- No service charges
- No fancy fixtures
- No show windows
- Out of the high rent locations

In other words, it makes plain common-sense. Why pay for something you can't wear!

Therefore, our reasons for saving you money are just as sound today, as when we first introduced these savings to the American public twenty years ago.

Just one more important fact... Our men's suits and coats are made in America by skillful tailors—your assurance of quality.

You will find this "MADE IN THE U.S.A." label only at Robert Hall on every man's suit and coat.

Seaway May Open Travel April 15

CORNWALL, Ont. (AP)—April 15 is the tentative opening date this year for navigation on the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The St. Lawrence Seaway Authority set the target date Wednesday but ice and weather conditions could cause a delay.

If no delay is encountered, it would be the earliest opening in the waterway's three-year history. It opened April 18 last year; April 25 in 1959.

The Welland Canal, between Lakes Erie and Ontario, was scheduled to open April 1 and the Sault Ste. Marie Canal, between Lakes Huron and Superior, April 4.

Platoons His Cars

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A suburban Irondequoit motorist employs an automotive platoon system so as not to subject his summer autos to salt spread on streets and highways during the winter.

E. H. Pope disclosed the seasonal substituting during a town zoning board hearing on his application to build a carport attached to his garage.

During the hearing, Mrs. Pope told the board that she and her husband actually owned six cars, not four.

She said they owned three Rolls Royces and three other makes. The Rolls Royces are vintage 1927, 1936 and 1940.

A decision on the building permit application was reserved.

To Address Accountants

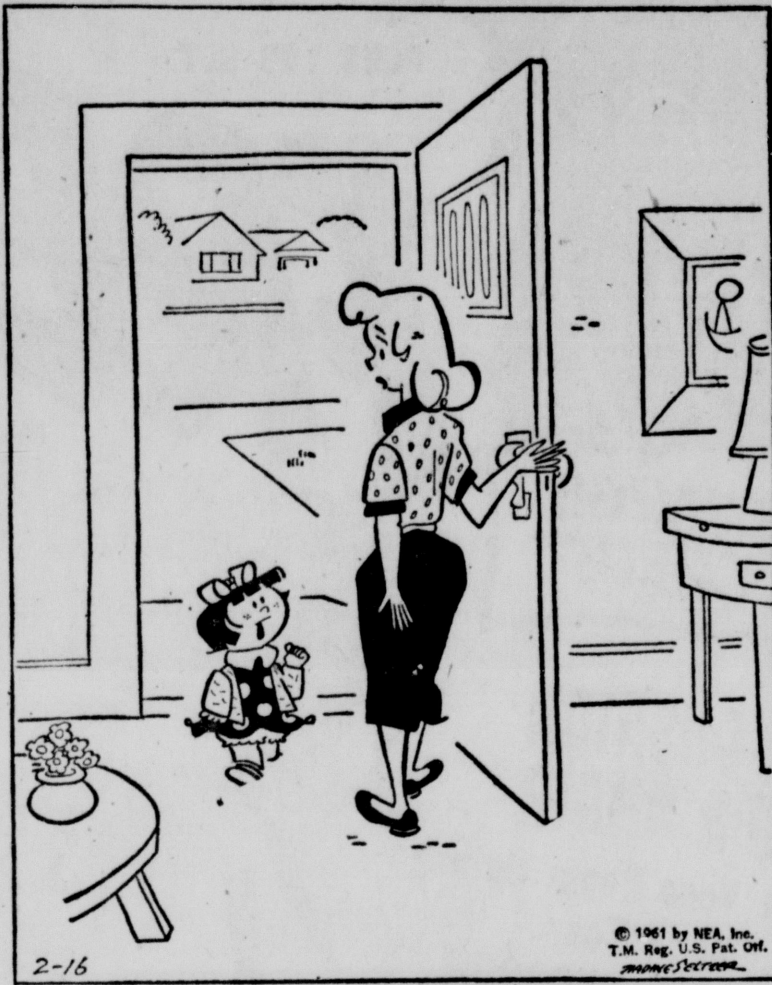

Paul Meek, chief of the public information division of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, will be the principle speaker at the regular monthly dinner-meeting of the Mid-Hudson Chapter of National Association of Accountants to be held Monday, February 20 at 6:30 p. m. at Beekman Arms, Rhinebeck. His subject will be "The Role of the Federal Reserve in the Economy of Our Country's Industries."

Bids Rockefeller Take N.Y. Control Of Surplus Foods

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller has been urged to assume statewide control over the federal surplus-food distribution program rather than to wait for action by county boards of supervisors.

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., wired the governor Wednesday that any delay would be "needlessly cruel."

President Kennedy recently ordered the distribution program expanded in view of high unemployment.

Under normal procedure, surplus food is distributed to the needy by local welfare agencies, who obtain it from state supply points.

Brussels Victim Former Associate Of Gowanda Firm

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Walter S. Powell, listed as one of the victims of the airliner crash near Brussels Wednesday, formerly was associated with the Moench Tanning Co. of Gowanda, N.Y.

Powell, 81, was a retired director of the Brown Shoe Co. of St. Louis. The shoe firm had taken over Moench Tanning.

Powell had been manager of tanneries for the shoe firm prior to his retirement in 1951.

Week's Program Is Planned

Youth to See Opportunity Offered in Engineer Field

"Engineering... A Career of Opportunity" has been selected as the theme for the 1961 National Engineer's Week, February 19-25, Thomas A. Baggot, IBM local chairman of the event, announced today.

Sid Van der Bent, of Van der Bent Associates, president of Ulster Chapter of New York State Society of Professional Engineers, sponsors of the week, said the theme was chosen "as part of a broad program to bring home to our young people the importance of obtaining the kind of sound and comprehensive academic background that will enable them to take advantage of the career opportunities which are now open to the young person with an engineering education."

Mr. Baggot added that "these career opportunities are large in number and variety now, and will, in all probability, grow considerably larger within the next few years."

Can Learn About Profession A portion of the planned activities are:

Career conferences for some of the country's high school students interested in the field of engineering. The conferences will be held at the various high schools during National Engineers Week. Many students are expected to participate, according to the various coordinators of these conferences.

The students will see a motion picture on the various fields of engineering, and professional engineers from the area will answer questions about the educational requirements and the opportunities for a career in engineering.

Coordinators Listed

The various coordinators are: Dick Walton, IBM, for Saugerties High School.

Chris Larios, Brinnier & Larios, Consultant Engineers, for Kingston High School.

Richard Bradley, IBM, for Ontario High School.

Larry Sista, IBM, and Henry Millonig, New York State Department of Highways, are coordinating activities planned for the various radio stations.

Auburn Man Indicted For Murder in Clubbing

AUBURN, N.Y. (AP)—Dr. Harry F. Burghardt, 40, was under indictment today on a charge of second-degree murder in the clubbing of his partner.

Dr. Richard W. Harter, 33, was

slain Jan. 24 in the office he and Burghardt shared.

Police said Burghardt admitted striking Harter on the head with the handle of an instrument used to dehorn cattle following an argument.

Burghardt had been free in $10,000 bail.

Library to Open
Its Monthly Film Series on Feb. 21

A series of films, to be presented each month at the Kingston City Library, is scheduled to begin on February 21, it was recently announced by the library.

The films, a series of short subjects dealing with some of the most important personalities of all time, will feature artists, musicians and thinkers.

Title of the film series is Our Western Heritage. Each program is expected to last slightly over one hour.

The film program will begin with a showing of three films on Tuesday, Feb. 21, at 8:30 p. m. in the library. Films on the first showing will deal with the contributions of Beethoven and Leonardo da Vinci. The modern anthropologist, Margaret Mead, will be featured in the third film.

Films exhibited at the Kingston City Library are borrowed from the library Extension Division of the New York State Library which has on file a collection of films purchased with funds from the Library Services Act.

The films in the Kingston City Library, available only to public libraries, will deal in future programs with personalities such as Grandma Moses, Robert Frost and Picasso.

A Look at Present Plans Shows:More Dramatic Developments Are Ahead in Decade for Space Flight

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)

—Space age satellites and rockets are speeding along the time when:

You flick on TV, settle back and watch Olympic games, political crises, news events the very moment they are happening half a world away, or out in space.

Lovers still look at the moon—but sometimes with spyglasses in hopes of seeing machines exploring its surface, or signs of men who landed on the moon.

News bulletins answer the great mystery whether life exists on Mars, or elsewhere in the solar system.

By radio-telephone, your voice shoots into space and back to a friend in Calcutta, the conversation clear as a bell, the cost of the call likely less than one made today.

Someone you know may know someone whose son has a fascinating job—he's floating in space, helping a great space station out of prefabricated materials carried up into that precise orbit by freighter rockets.

Advance on Weather

You know what the weather will be weeks in advance, to time a golf date or a wedding and know what to wear.

Astronomers harvest a gold mine of knowledge clarifying the origin and fate of the universe and world from a clear-eyed observatory circling above earth's obscuring blanket of air.

Some of these space age dividends could be realities within 5 years, others in 10 or so.

Plans for all of them already are under development. Scientists engineers, industries, technicians have started building the rockets, the instruments, the satellites, are engaged in all the complex calculations and proposals as the infant space age rushes toward maturity.

All, and more, are included in a 10-year space plan drawn up last year by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

President Kennedy's administration has not yet spelled out any changes it may make. Great policy questions are involved. For example, whether a network of communications satellites for civilian use should be operated and paid for by government or private industry.

AF, Navy at Work

In addition to NASA's ambitious plans, the Air Force, which has launched the majority of successful U.S. satellites to date, is developing satellites for communications, detecting launches of any enemy missiles, and observing military installations around the globe. The Navy is developing transit satellites to give ships, planes and submarines highly reliable "fixes" of their exact location at sea or over land.

NASA HEAD—James Webb, 54-year-old Washington attorney, has been named new chief of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration by President Kennedy.

Hopefully, this year will see an astronaut orbiting the earth.

Those Bigger Rockets

This year's schedule also calls for launching the first stage of the huge Saturn rocket, designed to develop 1½ million pounds of thrust, or about double the Soviet Union's present great booster rocket. (The USSR undoubtedly also is working on bigger rockets). The Saturn rocket could put a 14½-ton satellite into orbit, or land six tons on the moon.

Also scheduled are a solar observatory to study X-rays and radiation from the sun, and satellites to expand understanding of sun-space-earth relationships.

Other Major Targets

Some other major targets in the rest of the decade outlined by NASA, which now is spending nearly $1 billion a year, are:

1962: Hit the moon, but get some information about any lunar radiation or magnetism before the missile hits. Send probes out to Venus or Mars, beginning a program ultimately to land instruments on those planets. Launch the Nimbus weather satellites to lay a basis for accurate long-range weather forecasting, and understanding of weather mechanisms on earth. This same year should see more experiments with communications satellites, following up the path blazed by the Echo balloon.

1963: More communications satellites. Soft or gentle landings on the moon of instrumented satellites sending back close-up TV pictures and precious data about its surface, the moon's composition, other information giving clues as to how the moon—and so perhaps how the earth—was formed and born. Expanded explorations of phenomena in near space.

1964: Astronomy leaps forward through telescopes and other instruments aboard an orbiting observatory. Unmanned space vehicles go out for close-up looks at Mars or Venus, perhaps messaging back whether and what kinds of life exist on Mars.

1965: Tests of huge capsules designed to carry two or three men into space, or to the moon. Trip around the moon by an unmanned vehicle, but this might be done earlier in 1964.

1966-67: Flight of a complete three-stage Saturn rocket, America's ticket to the moon. Flight tests of rocket stages using nuclear power, devices landing on the moon capable of roving over its surface and sending back pictures and results of studies of its interior through seismic or shock waves.

1968-70: Spacecraft going into orbit around other planets.

1970 or beyond: Man himself sets foot on the moon. A year or two earlier, he has flown around it. Man's moon landing possibly could come earlier.

Utica-Rome Area Calls Kennedy on Idleness

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — President Kennedy had an invitation today to personally look over unemployment and welfare problems in the Utica-Rome area.

Michael J. Mc Guirl, Oneida County welfare commissioner, extended the invitation Wednesday night by telegram.

He said about 11 per cent of the work force in the area was out of work and many of the jobless were on welfare rolls because they had exhausted unemployment-insurance benefits.

Accord Firemen Studying Plan for Aid, Rescue Squad

A committee will be appointed by the Accord Fire Company to study the possibility of establishing a first aid and rescue squad.

A proposal at the monthly meeting of the organization this week was greeted enthusiastically, it was reported.

The excellent organization and work of the Ellenville rescue squad was cited, and the need for a similar service for the Accord area.

It was pointed out that the district has been fortunate in having had a minimum number of fires which involved loss of life or personal injuries, but the possibility of such an occurrence is always present. A rescue company would be concerned not only with fires but for drownings or other emergencies.

Stern Test

NEW HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—It was only a small chimney fire, but it was quite a test for volunteer firemen. The chimney belonged to Fire Chief Charles Warner.

Day Proclaimed to Honor Teachers

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller asks that New Yorkers honor teachers May 16 "for their courage, loyalty, devotion and unselfish services to each of us." He marked the day as Teacher Recognition Day in a proclamation Wednesday.

To Aid Economy

Speed-up Payment Of GI Dividends Is $25,856,950

An estimated 507,382 veterans in New York State will receive a total of $25,856,950 in GI insurance dividends under the speed-up payment program ordered by President Kennedy to assist the economy.

This was announced today by F. William Sheehan, officer in charge of the five county Veterans Administration station at the Main Post office here, who received the word from George M. Vadas, manager of regional office in Albany.

On the basis of percentage of veteran population, an estimated 45,000 veterans under the jurisdiction of the Albany office will receive approximately $2,300,000. The dividends will go to veterans who currently hold participating VA life insurance policies. The dividends are not a gratuity, he added, but are made because the death rate among GI policyholders continues to be lower than the mortality rate upon which their premiums were established by law.

The manager assured veterans they will receive their dividends as soon as possible under the expedited timetable, and urged them not to write. "GI policyholders will help themselves if they do not snamp us with individual questions," he emphasized. "Answering them will divert personnel from processing the dividend, and might actually delay the payments."

Nationally, more than a quarter-billion dollars in GI insurance dividends will be distributed.

Buffalo Gets New Four-Inch Snow

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A moist, heavy blanket of snow covered much of Western New York today, leaving residents with fond but brief memories of dry streets and green patches of lawn. Upwards of four inches fell in the Buffalo area Wednesday night, while Rochester had about two inches. Elmira recorded three inches.

The State Thruway from Rochester to Buffalo was covered with a thick packing and speed was reduced from 60 to 35 miles an hour over the stretch.

The Weather Bureau predicted temperatures moderating in the 30s today.

Gets Seaway Post

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP)—Joseph H. Mc Cann, 45, a Detroit businessman, is the new deputy administrator of the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp.

Martin W. Ottershagen, recently named administrator of the corporation by President Kennedy, said Wednesday night he had been advised of the appointment.

The deputy administrator post had been vacant since last June, when Lewis G. Castle, the previous administrator died. Ottershagen, former deputy administrator, was named acting administrator after Castle's death.

matter of FACT

"There was an old woman who lived in a shoe. She had so many children she didn't know what to do." That almost describes Elizabeth Foster who married a widower named Isaac Goose with 10 children. She had 10 children of her own. Fortunately, Elizabeth Foster knew what to do. She sang the children songs later published as "Songs of the Nursery." These were the Mother Goose Rhymes.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fish is first in many supermarkets and neighborhood groceries this weekend, reflecting the start of Lent.

Halibut steak is the special in New England, the New York metropolitan area and the Midwest, while other favorites include scallops, shrimp, haddock fillet, smelts and frozen fish sticks.

Seafood Prices Up

Seafood prices are reported 8.5 per cent higher than a year ago, partly because unusually cold weather is keeping fishing boats locked in ice at some ports. Eggs are 12 to 16 cents a dozen more expensive, with increases of 2 to 4 cents a dozen this week adding to the spread. Eggs were down 2 cents in the Far West, however.

Another Lenten staple, rice, is in plentiful supply. Frying chickens and top or bottom roasts of beef are popular items. Sirloin steak is offered in a few places, reflecting lower prices, while ribs of beef and pork chops are more costly in scattered sections.

Potatoes Good Buy

Good buys are artichokes, bunched beets, carrots, various cooking greens, parsley, mushrooms, peas and squash. Best bets among fruits are McIntosh and Cortland apples, Florida temple oranges, California navel oranges, tangerines, grapefruit and pineapples. Good buys are Delicious apples, avocados, limes and small pears.

Baratta Opposes Amesse Motions

District Attorney Raymond Baratta has made known that he intends to oppose a defense move to have David Amesse, 20, Staatsburg father of two children, released from the Dutchess County jail on a writ.

Amesse has been held in lieu of $25,000 bail since the reported death of Miss Rachel C. Perry, 18, of Poughkeepsie, who is presumed to have leaped to her death from the Mid-Hudson Bridge last Dec. 22.

Edward J. Filipowicz, attorney for Amesse said the application for a writ is returnable Friday before County Judge John R. Schwartz. Filipowicz contends Amesse is being held illegally as a material witness.

Authorities had to call off a search of the river because of thick ice.

Boat-Like Vehicle Rides Above Ground

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A vehicle that operates on land and sea and is very much up in the air has been demonstrated by the Bell Aerosystems Co.

Boat-like in appearance, the 2,000-pound craft rides about three inches above the ground on a cushion of air which is created by a fan mounted amidships. The fan is driven by a 65-horsepower automobile engine.

A company spokesman said

Wednesday at the demonstration that the vehicle had been licensed both by the State Motor Vehicle Bureau and the State Conservation Department—for use on land and water.

Designed as an experimental craft to study the air cushion principle, it is capable of a speed of 15 miles an hour.

Book Out 19 Years

ONEIDA, N.Y. (AP) — The Oneida Public Library decided to waive penalties Wednesday on overdue books.

Patrons returned 235 books. One book had been out for 19 years.

Local Dancers Will Take Part in First Dance Festival

The County Center in White Plains, N. Y., will be the scene of a two-day dance festival this weekend, Feb. 18 and 19. The Westchester Dance Festival, sponsored by the County Recreation Commission, is an important first in this kind of event. While government support of artistic efforts is common in other countries, it is reported this marks the first time a civic organization has sponsored a dance festival in the United States.

Participating in the festival will be Miss Ann Millonig of 99 Clinton Avenue, Kingston, and Judy Babb, Brenda Lehmann, and Judy Robison of New Paltz. These dancers are members of the Westchester Dance Council, Junior Section. They also appear regularly as members of the Huguenot Dancers, a performing company under the direction of Mrs. Charles Wolters of New Paltz. For the festival presentation, they have been under the direction of Fred Berk, New York choreographer and dancer.

Included in the festival program will be a panel discussion Saturday morning, "Dance and the Community," a Showcase Production by Westchester dance groups at 2:30 that afternoon, and a Folk and Square Dance Festival Saturday evening. Five dance companies are slated to perform in the gala performance Sunday night at 8:30.

Principal A. W. Cowan announced that the following students have received the Certificates which attest to their high academic promise: Irene Berkey and Jay Lovinger.

The seniors attained Finalist status by their distinguished performance on two tests and upon endorsement by their high school. About six-tenths of one per cent of the seniors in each state received the awards. Approximately 9,800 students in the 50 states and in United States territories were honored.

"The Certificate of Merit winners represent our most valuable national resource, our talented youth," said John M. Stlanaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. "These exceptionally able students deserve the recognition and encouragement of every citizen concerned with the future of America."

The Merit Scholars, to be announced April 27, 1961, will be selected from the Finalist group. They will receive scholarships from the resources of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation and from sponsoring business corporations, foundations, associations and individuals. In 1959-60, 115 sponsors participated in the Merit Program.

The names of all who achieved Semi-finalist status in the competition were published in a booklet which was then distributed to colleges and other sources of scholarships and financial aid. Previous experience indicates that more than half of the Finalists will be offered assistance from sources other than the Merit Program.

Recipients of National Merit Scholarships and some sponsored scholarships are chosen by a Selection Committee composed of experts in academic selection. Recipients of other sponsored scholarships are chosen by special judging teams convened by the sponsors of those scholarships. High school grades, recommendations by high school officials, leadership, citizenship, and extra-curricular activities are considered as well as test scores.

Church Society Will Give Fashion Show

St. Philomena's Altar-Rosary Society will sponsor a fashion show on February 28 at 8 p. m. at St. Philomena's Church hall in Lake Katrine. Chairman of the event is Mrs. Leo McAndrew.

Also serving on the committee are Mrs. George Dall, Mrs. William Minahan, Mrs. Patrick McManamon, Mrs. John O'Brien, Mrs. Stanley Van Kleek.

CATHOLIC WOMEN PLAN BREAKFAST—The Alumnae Association of College of St. Rose has announced its annual Communion breakfast will take place on March 12 at the Governor Clinton Hotel after the 8 a. m. Rondout Valley School Announces Finalists In National Merit Scholarship Program

Two seniors at Rondout Valley Central High School have been named Finalists in the 1960-61 National Merit Scholarship Program competition and have been awarded Certificates of Merit.

Principal A. W. Cowan announced that the following students have received the Certificates which attest to their high academic promise: Irene Berkey and Jay Lovinger.

The seniors attained Finalist status by their distinguished performance on two tests and upon endorsement by their high school. About six-tenths of one per cent of the seniors in each state received the awards. Approximately 9,800 students in the 50 states and in United States territories were honored.

ORDERING MORE EXPENSIVE DISHES

Q. Once a month I have dinner with several friends with whom I went to college. We all pay for our own dinners, but instead of each paying for what she had, we divide the bill among the number present. All the dinners are usually more or less about the same price. Once in a while there is something on the menu that I would especially like to have but which is quite a bit more expensive than what the others are ordering, and I hesitate to have it because of the division of the bill. Would it be wrong for me to order this special dish, or when the bill is equally divided, must one limit the price of her meal to what the others order?

A. There is no reason why should not have what you like but you should offer to pay this extra when the bill is presented. If they refuse your offer, then it would be wrong to take advantage of their generosity by continuing to order more expensive dishes.

Names for Parents-in-Law

Q. I have been married for six months and still find it difficult to call my husband's parents "mother" and "father." Is it improper and disrespectful to call them Mr. and Mrs. which I have been doing?

A. It is neither improper nor disrespectful but it is certainly most unloving—unless they are so punctilious that they themselves discourage any closer approach. Usually a synonym for "mother" and "father" is chosen.

Eating Bread and Butter

Q. May a whole slice of bread be buttered at one time? I've noticed some people doing this and then breaking it. I was taught to butter pieces as eaten.

A. A whole slice of bread as well as a hot muffin or biscuit should be broken at least in half, before buttering.

The Emily Post Institute is sorry it cannot answer personal mail.

BARBARA HRICISAK

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hricisak of 715 Abeel Street announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara, to Thomas R. Feeney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Feeney of 12 West Chester Street.

No date has been set for the wedding.

American Guild of Organists

The Central Hudson Valley Chapter American Guild of Organists will meet Monday, Feb. 20 at 8 p. m. in the Federated Church, Millbrook.

George Fowler, F.A.G.O., will speak on the topic of "Guild Examinations." Certificates are granted as Fellows, Associates or Choir Masters to members who pass such examinations, to advance the cause of worthy church music and to elevate the status of church musicians.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Knutson, Miss Garrison and Miss Thystrup.

Card Parties

St. Ann's, Sawkill

St. Ann's Altar-Rosary Society is sponsoring a card party on Friday, Feb. 24, at 8 p. m. It will be held in the church hall in Sawkill. Tickets will be available after the 8 and 11 o'clock Mass in Sawkill; and after the 9:30 Mass in Ruby. Serving on the committee are: co-chairmen, Mrs. George Young and Miss Mary Young, assisted by Mrs. Frank Baker, Mrs. Ruth Cascone, and Mrs. Kosonen.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES L. FREER 3RD (Shann photo)

Miss Karen L. Lane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Lane of 174 Linderman Avenue, Kingston, wed James L. Freer, 3rd, son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Freer Jr., of 22 Oak Street, also this city, on February 4, at St. Joseph's Church. Officiating at the 1 p. m. ceremony was the Rev. William Williams. Mrs. Frank Rafferty was organist and Mrs. Thomas Brocco was soloist.

For the wedding the church was decorated with gladioli. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of bouquet taffeta fashioned with a scooped neckline and long tapered sleeves. The bodice and circular skirt, en train, were enriched with Alençon lace motifs re-embroidered with seed pearls. The wide French illusion veil was shirred to a princess crown of seed pearls. She carried a hand bouquet of stephanotis with white orchid center.

Miss Anita Senor of 43 Boulevard, Kingston, attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a gown of romance blue peau taffeta with a circlet neckline, abbreviated sleeves and a bouffant ballerina skirt. The gown featured a crushed cummerbund and a flat bow detail at the back waistline. She carried a hand bouquet of pink roses.

Four attendants wore gowns of ballet blue with romance blue accents styled identically to that worn by the honor attendant. All wore matching half crowns of seed pearls with tulle flirtation veils and carried hand bouquets of pink roses.

Serving as attendants were Miss Joan Hinkley of 136 Prospect Street, Miss Jacqueline DuBois, 17 Prospect Street, Mrs. Joseph H. Riggins, 171 Henry Street, the bridegroom's sister, all of Kingston, and Mrs. Gordon Crow of 206 Ulster Avenue, Saugerties.

Joseph K. Riggins, 171 Henry Street, served as best man for his brother-in-law. Ushers were Robert H. Lane, 174 Linderman Avenue, the bride's brother; Louis J. Fisher, 19 Liberty Street, cousin of the bridegroom; James Decker, 632 Broadway, Kingston, and Gunther Ilgner, Eddyville.

More than 120 guests were entertained at the Moose Lodge on 82 Prince Street after the church ceremony. After the reception, the couple left for New York City. For traveling, the bride wore a rose pink sheath with black accessories and a white orchid.

Mrs. Freer and her husband are graduates of Kingston High School. They are both employed by Electrol, Inc. Mr. Freer served four years with the U. S. Air Force, three years of which were spent in Europe.

When Mr. and Mrs. Freer return from their trip, they will reside at 210 Washington Avenue, Kingston.

UHL VS. SCHUMER

Newspapers in the Middletown-Port Jervis and the Sullivan County area are boosting Steve Schumer of Monticello as the Player of the Year in the DUSO League. That's like picking Ray Felix over Wilt Chamberlain in the NBA. It's utterly absurd to even think of any other player in the valley, let alone in the league, coming close to Uhl on the basketball court.

Taking just one phase of the game — Shooting — we might give Schumer a slight edge. Uhl is shooting about 40 per cent this season. He has 132 baskets in 336 attempts and his 95 free throws in 150 tries gives him an average of 64 per cent from the foul line. However, whereas Schumer has scored against strictly normal defenses, Uhl has had to get his points against defenses which at various times, have seen two and even three players sagging off on him.

A COMPLETE PLAYER

Coach John Gilligan has often referred to Uhl as a complete player. In addition to leading the KHS cagers in scoring, the blonde Bomber leads in rebounds with 211 (an average of 16) and is second in assists with 55. We know that as great a shooter as Schumer is, he cannot compare to Uhl in all-around ability and, after all, it's not only shooting that wins basketball games but a lot of teamwork as well.

We will not hesitate in nominating Uhl as the Player of the Year at the annual Sportswriters' meeting. His credentials speak for themselves. On those credentials we rest our case.

WINNING STREAKS

Linton High of Schenectady, Pine Plains of the Hudson Valley division of the Dutchess County League, Monroe-Woodbury of the Orange County League and Livingston Manor of the Western Sullivan League boast the longest winning streaks in the area. Linton's unbeaten string is now 40 games and that tops the parade.

Pine Plains, a perennial powerhouse in Dutchess County, has won 38 straight and things promise to be even better because Coach Les Barton has only one senior, a junior and three sophomores on his starting team this season. Among the victims of the Plainsmen are Arlington and Wappingers Falls, two Class A schools.

Livingston Manor has captured 31 straight contests but had to scramble twice to beat Rondout Valley in non-league efforts. Monroe-Woodbury's streak has reached 21 straight and Bo Gill of the Newburgh News calls the Crusaders the most potent club in the Hudson Valley. That's strictly a matter of opinion and we do not share it.

BARRY IN ACTION

Ex-Saugerties High athlete Barry Wolven played with the Rutgers University freshman basketball team at West Point last week. He was selected to this newspaper's All-DCSL cage squad last season. . . . Leo Dolan, the one bright spot in an otherwise drab season for Cardinal Farley Military Academy, scored 45 points against Tivoli last week to set a record at the school. The Cadets won the game, 90-65. Dolan's dad is city editor of the Hudson-Register Star and was one of the best players in that city in the 1920's. . . . Saugerties and Arlington High School will play a football game under the Municipal Stadium lights this season. It's the Sawyers' home game. . . . Ontario athletic director Eddie Witko made a tour of several colleges last week in search of a physical education teacher for the school. . . . Jimmy Sims ran with the Cornell squash team at the Millrose games in New York's Madison Square Garden and the runners finished sixth in the open relay. Sims ran second and did the half mile in slightly less than two minutes. Incidentally, he had a B average for his first semester at the school, quite an accomplishment.

Bobsled Riders Get Last Tryouts Today

By JACK CLARY

Associated Press Sports Writer

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) —

today over a track that is becoming rather stubborn.

Five runs were planned for each of the 15 sleds, although the Canadians still are trying to make up

of their injured No. 1 driver, Vic

Emery. He suffered a broken nose

caught in some soft snow against the right bank of the third corner.

The sled was damaged, but was expected to be back in workable

modifications in zig-zag curve

proaching records the last two days. No one is gaining the speeds deemed possible after Monday's record-breaking achievements by

Franz Schelle of Germany and Sergio Zardini of Italy.

Zardini came closest Wednesday, with a 1:09.23, but this was still well below the record of

1:08.88 held by Stan Benham of Lake Placid. Schelle did 1:09.76.

Defending champion Eugenio

Monti of Italy, who won his fifth straight two-man title last weekend, could only do 1:10.45.

A mild controversy over the condition of the course near the site of Emery's accident also was expected to be resolved by filling a rut caused by a combination of sled runners' melting and a change in the ground below the ice.

The Canadians and Marcel Lee-

lef, vice president of the International Bobsled Federation, claimed

spun into the wall.

The federation suspended practices after the mishap, giving all but the entries for mSapn and

Austria, and the U.S. pair of Benham and Larry McKillop, of Saratoga.

Team Seeking To Clinch Tie For DCSL Title

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Playing for the last time this season before the home folks, Saugerties High players will attempt to clinch no worse than a tie for the DCSL title Friday night against Wappingers Falls. The jayvee game will get underway at 7 p. m. with the varsity contest slated to begin about 8:30.

Coach Bud Smith's quintet is on a winning streak which has reached 12 games. The last club to beat Saugerties was Roosevelt and it was done before the Christmas holidays. The Sawyers also lost their opener to Hudson and beat Catskill before the Roosevelt loss.

In First Place Since then, Highland, Cardinal Farley (2), Beacon (2) Clarkstown, Ontario, Rondout Valley, Wappingers Falls, Arlington, Roosevelt and Catskill have dropped decisions to the Sawyers. The winning string, made under pressurized conditions, has boosted the Sawyers into the top spot in the red hot DCSL race, a game ahead of Roosevelt.

Wappingers lost, 53-46, on the Falls Court early in the season and does not figure to win at the SHS gym, but the team is capable of giving any club a good game on a given night. Gary Brown, a Freeman All-DCSL selection last season, is the leading player for the visitors. The others are just average.

Coach Smith has been winning with a strong starting five of Al Hrdlicka, Bill Schirmer, Bill Eckhoff, John Nolan and Jerry Duney plus number one reserve Bob Francello. Hrdlicka, Eckhoff and Nolan have been the leading scorers, all averaging in double figures.

Can Clinch Next Week

A win over the Fallsmen will set up the possible championship clinching next week at Arlington. However, if Wappingers scores an upset, Roosevelt could either tie for the title or sneak home free if Arlington also beats the Sawyers.

There is more than just a championship riding on the line in the final two league games. The Saugerties school board will permit the team to enter the Sectional tournament against Westchester county only if it captures the title. That's a good incentive in the final two circuit games.

Five Teams Set For NCAA Small College Tourney

NEW YORK (AP)—Five teams already are in the lineup for the NCAA small college basketball tournament, the NCAA Service Bureau said today, and 10 more probably will be added this week-end.

The five already named for the 32-team tournament are Cape Girardeau (Mo) State (18-1), Fairfield (Conn) (12-3), South Carolina State (15-4), Southern Illinois (18-4), and Wabash (12-4).

The tournament opens with eight regional competitions March 11-12. The eight winners advance to Evansville, Ind., for the championships on March 16-17-18. Evansville is the defending champion.

Cape Girardeau is the Missouri Intercollegiate Conference champion, Fairfield is champion of the Tri-State Conference, and South Carolina State has won the Southern Intercollegiate Conference. Southern Illinois and Wabash were at-large selections.

Eleven other conference champions and 16 other at-large choices will complete the lineup.

Dog Owners Get Warning in Move To Protect Deer

The regional office of the Division of Fish and Game for Region 8 has received numerous complaints concerning the killing of deer by semi-domestic or wild dogs. Persons owning or harboring dogs are requested to keep them under control at all times during this period as snow conditions have become exceedingly hazardous for our wild deer populations.

The snow now has a crust on it which is capable of supporting some fairly large dogs but it is apparently not capable of supporting deer as their hooves punch through the crust and when they begin to flounder the dogs are able to take them down. In some cases dogs have been destroyed while eating the deer alive.

The Conservation Department earnestly asks the cooperation of all persons to make sure that their dog is not running at large during this critical period. Under Section 240 of the Conservation Law, owners are reminded that they can be prosecuted for allowing their dog to hunt deer and the Conservation Department intends to take vigorous action should such cases be brought to their attention.

The Conservation Department has also asked other authorized enforcement agencies to cooperate in destroying dogs found pursuing or killing deer.

Manhattans Win 2 HVWL Games

Rose Schatzel, Hilda Murphy, Sis Balash and Dot Rawding were above 500 as Manhattan Bolls won a pair of Hudson Valley Women's league games from Bowling Time lanes Sunday.

BETWEEN YOU 'N' ME

The football pros who scoff at the buzz from St. Louis that Cleveland wanted to swap fabulous Jimmy Brown for the Cards' John David Crow might not know that the game's greatest runner is pushing to play out his option with the Browns next season . . . got the front office mad by failing to show at a couple of functions for which they booked him . . . and has shown no shyness in public addresses about his unhappiness with the "robot system" of the Browns' offense.

Pancho Gonzales is the only one on Jake Kramer's tennis ground who elects to receive service . . . when he wins the pre-match spin of the racket . . . because he believes a man's first service is his weakest.

The new major-domo of the Yankees, Ralph Houk, will be up to his ears in reaction when people hear his record ("Hear Houk" by Houk) assertion that "baseball is the most difficult of all games, because more tough situations arise than in any other game . . . and they occur more rapidly than they do in other sports." . . . wonder if he ever played basketball, or hockey . . . and then the major adds, "I think the mark of a true athlete is whether or not he can play baseball."

Rocky Marciano, putting together a TV series of Ring Classics, is parlaying his friendship with famous comedians into guest shots to live on the shows . . . at scale wages, yet.

Floyd Patterson puts an okay on kid brother Raymond's efforts as a Golden Gloves heavyweight—"He does something you seldom see an amateur do, throws a left hook to the body"—but he won't make the scene in the youngster's corner any more. . . . "It disturbs him psychologically," says Floyd. "So from now I'll go as far as his dressing room . . . and leave him there."

Tennis impresario Kramer is still hammering at amateur tennis. "Those guys," he insists, "just don't improve. The big ones, with the exception of the Australians, dodge competition to make dough."

Short shots: John Thomas might get more loft on his high jumps if he didn't train on late hamburgers at all-night joints. . . . Kyle Rote, it says here, will return to the grid Giants, even if Frank Gifford didn't . . . and so will Charley Conerly . . . though one Giant boldly stated it might be better if the club cleared out all the old boys and let the young kids operate without the pressure of veterans in the wings . . . NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle has his own barometer for the cost of living in New York—his apartment on Sutton Place costs him $450 a month more than he was paying in Los Angeles. . . .

It was cool cool when Floyd Patterson bumped into stablemate Jose Torres, the middleweight who's muttering unhappily about Cus D'Amato's inability to line up more bouts for him . . . and could it be because Jose's been living it up over in Brooklyn and isn't in shape to take on the top boys? . . .

More short shots: Things are so bad with the Knicks they couldn't even swap lanky Kenny Sears, who used to be their chief gunner, for Syracuse's Larry Costello, who could be excess baggage for the Nats with the rise of Hal Greer and Dick Barnett. . . . Things are so bad, physically, at Duquesne that the Dukies, down to seven able-bodied men, are thinking seriously of cancelling out the rest of their game schedule. . . . Bert Bell, Jr., laying out the NFL schedule for next fall, does it with a set of dominoes . . . and estimates it's take him 300 moves to satisfy all teams. . . .

Between you'n'me: Return of assistant coach Ernie Jorge to Navy could be the tipoff to big shakeup in the AFL . . . for Jorge and his Oakland Raider boss, Eddie Erdelatz, have always been inseparable. . . .

Memphis Blasts MT 81-61; Dayton, Detroit, Army Win

By DON WEISS Associated Press Sport Writer

The National Invitation Basketball Tournament, New York's post-season scramble which opens a month from tonight, is shaping up nicely with the teams already named fattening their records and a bundle of contenders sharpening up while awaiting a beckoning bid.

Five of the seven clubs already in the 12-team lineup whipped a victory Wednesday night, topped by tourney-sleeper Memphis State which ballooned its record to a handy 18-2 in an 81-61 rout of Middle Tennessee.

At the same time, Dayton (15-6) rallied to beat Duquesne 70-67, Detroit (14-7) topped Canisius 62-58, Miami of Florida (16-6) spilled Stetson 91-81, and Army (16-5) cuffed Delaware 70-47 to complete a sweep for the five NIT-topped teams in action.

Holy Cross and LaSalle—a couple of others looking for berths—won again. The Crusaders (13-4 against college opposition) routed Rhode Island's Yankee Conference leaders 96-72 and LaSalle (13-5) handed Syracuse its 14th loss in 16 games, 81-75.

The five remaining berths in the NIT should pose no serious problems, with at least one spot or maybe two going to the Missouri Valley and the Middle Atlantic conferences, which send their No. 1 club into the NCAA. The strong McValley probably will send defending NIT champ Bradley and perhaps Wichita of St. Louis into the NIT if Cincinnati retains the conference title.

Either St. Joseph's (Pa) or Temple, whichever doesn't go to the NCAA, will go to the NIT from the Middle Atlantic. The other berths could be up for grabs from among Niagara (12-3), Seattle, Chicago Loyola, as well as Holy Cross and LaSalle.

Elsewhere Wednesday night seventh-ranked North Carolina beat North Carolina State 62-56 and went into a tie with idle Duke for first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Louisville, one of the four at-large teams chosen for the NCAA tourney, set a school record in crushing Ohio U. 117-84 for its 18th win against four losses. Brown pulled an Ivy League upset, beating Yale 67-61 and dropping the Elis 1½ games behind front-running Princeton. Pitt, 11 points behind at the half, rallied to beat Fordham 60-58, and Navy scored 12 straight points just before the end to spill Georgetown (DC) 66-57.

Today, enjoy the new golden light taste of this great new beer!

Never before in America has there been a bock like new Rheingold Golden Bock—rich, hearty, robust, with a fine authority and new golden lightness all its own.

This is a beer that is brewed only at this time of year, with a flavor that is perfectly suited to the season—and that is why it's here for a limited time only.

For the next few weeks, your favorite store, tavern and restaurant should have enough Rheingold Golden Bock for you to enjoy—a great new world of taste.

Warriors Mangled By Hawks 135-98, Crowds Boo Stilt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Joe Ruklick, former Northwest star who has been operating in the shadows of Philadelphia's Wilt Chamberlain, finally drew all the applause while the Big Stilt got the boos.

The St. Louis Hawks, leading at times by 50 points, mangled the Warriors 135-98 Wednesday night in the first game of a National Basketball Association double-header at Madison Square Garden. The New York Knickerbockers edged the Syracuse Nationals 129-127 in overtime in the second game.

Ruklick was Chamberlain's understudy as a rookie last season, and saw little action. In the first half Wednesday night Chamberlain missed passes, threw wildly, and couldn't locate the basket. Ruklick never came off the bench.

Late in the third period, after St. Louis raced to a 78-35 half-time lead, Ruklick got into the game. He flipped in nine baskets.

Yale Is Blasted By RPI 8-3; BC Slams Colby 6-3

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rensselaer Poly, holding a narrow margin as top hockey team in the East, blasted Yale Wednesday night, 8-3.

Meanwhile, second-place Boston College won also, defeating Colby 6-3.

RPI unleashed a five goal attack in the second period against visiting Yale. The Eli's lumped their three goals together in the third period.

The victory gave RPI an overall record of 13-3-1 and a record of 9-2-1 against Eastern opponents. The Engineers retained first place Wednesday in the weekly poll of New England coaches and writers at Boston.

Angerer, Zeidler Lend Color To Race at Hunter Mountain

The first annual Hunter Cup Race has been scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 18, at 11 a. m. at Hunter Mountain Ski Bowl.

The Giant Slalom event is expected to attract some of the finest male skiers in the east. The course will start at the top of the mountain and run through 40 gates.

Two classes are scheduled, one for members of the Ski Patrol of the area, and the Open division for instructors and all those who can qualify as racers.

Trophies will be awarded in the two divisions and the Hunter Trophy bowl must be won three times in succession for permanent possession.

The racing course was laid out by Willi Angerer, Hunter Mountain ski instructor, who hails from Innsbruck, Austria. The race was conceived by Rudolf Zeidler of Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany, who is a member of the International Ski Patrol and heads the Hunter Mountain ski patrol. One of only three persons ever to receive the Gold Medal of the International patrol, Zeidler has handled more than 2,000 accident cases and saved at least 25 lives in the Alps.

Also assisting in the coordination of the event are Ronnie D. Martin and Siegfried Faeler Jr., general manager.

International Star

Angerer brings an impressive background to the Hunter setup. He was a member of the Austrian Junior team of 1946-49, won the Tyrol Junior championship and then retired from racing for three years because of a broken collarbone.

After his recovery, Angerer returned to racing to compile an

Outlook of Retaining Top Skating Honors Are Faint

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK (AP)—America's faint hopes of retaining its dominant position in world and Olympic figure skating competition rested today on the speedy development of some promising young skaters and the unlikely possibility that retired stars would return to competition.

Still stunned by Wednesday's appalling air tragedy which cost the lives of 18 members of the United States team, enroute to Prague for the world championships, prominent American coaches and officials surveyed the prospects for the 1964 Olympics and found little that was encouraging.

impressive record. Among his titles were the Syer Memorial Trophy, 1953; Innsbruck championship, 1954; New Zealand championship, 1957; Haensli Cup in New Zealand, 1957. He taught at Greyrocks in Canada in 1955-57, then went to Mt. Raupeu, New Zealand, to teach with Harvey Clifford.

In 1958, Angerer trained the New Zealand FIS world championship team. That same year he placed 16th in the International competition at St. Moritz, and won the Quebec Slalom championship.

In 1959, Angerer captured the Canadian Kandahar and the Canadian championship and placed 8th in the famous International at Stowe. Last year he won the Midwestern Giant Slalom.

The noted skier and instructor will be at Hunter all season as assistant to Karl Plattner in the ski school. He is also a Certified Examiner for Canadian ski instructors.

"These were the finest skaters in the country—the best three in every division," said Carl W. Gram Jr., secretary of the U. S. Figure Skating Association. "Now we will have to start from the beginning—with our juniors and kids. It's a long road back."

Pierre Brunet, coach of Olympic women's champion Carol Heiss and many other leading skaters, said: "It will be two Olympics before we can hope to have a strong representative team again."

The U. S. has won every individual men's Olympic title since World War II and the 1956 and 1960 women's championships. The winners all have retired or turned professional.

Tim Brown, who escaped the jet plane crash in Brussels because he withdrew after placing third in the U. S. men's championship, revealed Wednesday that he had given up competition because of a heart condition. He is the best surviving male skater. Brown is 22 and although he said he had quit for good, he might return by 1964.

Tenley Albright, the 1956 Olympic women's champion and Barbara Ann Roles, third in the 1960 Olympics, have retired and aren't likely to return.

Canadiens Trounce Maple Leafs 3 to 1 struck a January slump and dropped behind the Toronto Maple Leafs.

But the Canadiens played like champs again Wednesday night and beat the Leafs 3-1.

The Canadiens still are four points behind the Leafs, but they have played two fewer games. They're even in games lost and tied.

In Wednesday night's other game the third place Chicago Black Hawks trounced the New York Rangers 5-2. New York, after a successful January campaign, now has lost five and tied one of its last six games.

Indians Trounce Barons; Sweeney Gets Four Assists

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Springfield's Bill Sweeney doesn't like to see his American Hockey League scoring lead threatened. Things like that are worth money.

Out of action all last week, Sweeney saw Buffalo's Phil Maloney cut into his margin and finally bring it down to just one point. So on his return Wednesday night Bill collected four assists as the Indians trounced the collapsing Cleveland Barons 6-3 and now he's comfortably ahead again.

The Bisons and Maloney get their chance tonight when they play their second game of the week at Quebec against the sixth place Aces. A victory would give Buffalo a three-point edge over Cleveland in the race for second place. Springfield is 18 points ahead of the Bisons.

Goalie Gil Mayer of Cleveland had his work cut out in the first two periods as Springfield gained a 2-1 lead on goals by Bruce Cline and Bill McCreary against one by Cleveland's Ron Attwell.

Burgess Retains No. 1 Scorer Spot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Frank Burgess of Gonzaga, now the eighth major college player to top 2,000 points in a three-year career, remains the No. 1 scorer among big school basketball players.

Now on a 10-day break from basketball, Burgess built his season record to 716 points in 22 games for a 32.5 average and a 1.4 lead over East Tennessee's Tom Chilton, figures from the NCAA Service Bureau show today.

Chilton, who would need to average over 42 points a game in the three games he'll play while Gonzaga and Burgess are idle to take the lead, is second with a 31.1 average on 622 points in 20 games. St. Bonaventure's Tom Stith remains third with a 30.7 average on 613 points in 20 games.

But Bob McCord broke the game open with two goals early in the final period. Jack Caffrey added another and Cline made his second. Moe, Mantha and Bill Dieneen made the last two Cleveland goals.

Cline also had a four-point evening with two goals and two assists. Mayer kicked out 37 Cleveland shots.

Any participant who pins his man gets an additional point towards the team total. The championship will go to the team compiling the most points.

Wappingers is considered the best club at this time, an official said.

Nobility Listed On Champs Sled Teams at Placid

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP)—The roster of competitors in the world four-man bobsled championships this weekend reads like an abstract from "Burke's Peerage."

It includes three barons, a count, a lord and two honorables. Belgium is represented by Baron Jon De Crauwe, Baron Guy De Fierlant and Count Thierry De Borchgrave.

Liechtenstein is represented by Baron Edward Von Falz Fein.

English nobility is represented by Lord Suffolk, The Hon. Simon Fraser and The Hon. Robin Dixon, a captain in the Grenadier Guards.

The Greek owner of a small restaurant was a good cook but a poor speller. He prepared the menus himself and often misspelled words. One day "Lam Stew" was advertised as the special dish. A regular customer smilingly pointed out that "lamby" had to have a "b" on the end. The restaurateur grinned at his mistake and thanked the man.

A few days later the same man dropped in again for a bite, and while perusing the menu, noticed that the Greek had really taken his spelling lesson to heart.

The special dish for that day was "Clamb Broth."

Waiter--Spring lamb, sir.

Diner--Is that so; I've been chewing on one of the springs for an hour!

Mrs. Newkale--My dear, isn't that The Sextet from Lucia the orchestra is playing?

Partner--No, I think it is a selection from Rigoletto.

Mrs. Newkale--I am positive it is The Sextet from Lucia.

Thereupon Mrs. Newkale goes to the orchestra stand and reads the placard posted in the space where the names of the selections played usually are placed. She returns to her partner.

Mrs. Newkale--My dear, we are both wrong. It's the Refrain from Smoking.

And then there are girls who like to be invited to homes just to see what is in them.

"Why do we always have an extra plate for salad on MY day to wash the dishes?"

A scientist says that in another 100 years there will be no blondes left in this country. No doubt. It's hard to leave one now.

Women, they say, are very peculiar. For instance, we have heard of a case of a woman who hadn't kissed her husband for two years but she scratched the eyes out of another woman who did.

Husband--What in the world possessed you to get that lemon colored dress?

Wife--Because I had such a terrible time squeezing it out of you.

Selling Country Property?

Quick way to find buyers for your property is to look where they are looking for you. In the New York City area and surrounding territory, that means putting your ad in the New York Times. It's the source prospects turn to first because it has more to choose from—more farm advertisers than any other New York newspaper. Good time to advertise is between March 5 and April 9—the period when farms, country homes and estates will be featured in the Times Classified pages. Your announcement will reach approximately 600,000 families on weekdays, 900,
000 on Sundays. To place your ad, write or call this agency. We'll furnish costs and other information, but you prepare your ad. VALLEY AD-VERTISING AGENCY, 116 Fair
Street, Kingston, New York Phone

Cordiner Feels Price-Rig Only Damaging to GE

By ROGER LANE

AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Ralph J. Cordiner, chairman of General Electric Co., said Wednesday night GE's admitted rigging of prices on heavy electrical equipment in 1956-59 damaged only GE. Of utility and industrial customers that bought an estimated $1.2 billion in such equipment during the four years, Cordiner said. "If we've unwittingly damaged any customer anywhere we wish to make an adjustment."

Doubts Money Injury

He said he strongly doubted any financial injury. The GE boss talked to the New York Society of Security Analysts while the threat of multimillion-dollar single and triple damage suits against his firm still was having its effects in Wall Street. About 1,085,000 shares of GE common stock changed hands in a wave of selling on the New York Stock Exchange in the week ended Wednesday. It was the most active issue each day. The price plunged $8.75 to $61.12 a share, a 1960-61 low, last Friday before rebounding strongly, then settling a bit.

GE was one of 29 corporations fined nearly $2 million last week in the nation's biggest antitrust case. Three GE officials and four executives of other firms drew 30-day jail sentences.

Cordiner made these main points in a 15-minute talk and an hour and a quarter of question-answering:

1. Twenty eight of 29 damage suits demanding $104 million from GE in 1953 in the so-called lamp case were settled for $1.4 million — a little under a penny and a half on the dollar.

2. In his own opinion, utility customers that sued GE and actually recovered damages might bring on themselves "one of the most penetrating rate investigations they ever experienced." He added: "I am not saying that every utility doesn't have to practice very great diligence in determining whether it was damaged."

3. Since mid-December, the GE chairman personally has called on 24 utility customers. "I've yet to encounter the first man who said 'Cordiner, we've got a case, we've been damaged.'"

4. GE plans to press a campaign of out-of-court talks with any company seeking an adjustment but to "resist any suit."

30 Cars Jump Rail

CLYDE, N. Y. (AP) — Thirty coal cars of a freight train left the New York Central Railroad tracks early today near this community east of Rochester.

No one was reported injured. The train was eastbound from Coming to DeWitt, near Syracuse. A railroad spokesman said other trains were being switched to the Auburn branch. He said no delays were expected. Four passenger trains in Buffalo were to be combined into two for their trip to Albany, and two trains in Albany combined for a trip to Buffalo. The cause of the accident was not determined.

Cargo Guarded Closely

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP) — A Stratocruiser freighter bearing a serial number but without other identification landed at Elisabethville Airport Wednesday with a closely guarded cargo. The U.N. claimed today that the plane was carrying a French Mystere jet fighter for the Katanga air force.

The Stratocruiser was unloaded secretly Wednesday night and the cargo stowed in a Katanga air force hangar.

Lays on Alarm Button

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Two gunmen entered a liquor store Wednesday night and ordered the clerk, David Wareham, to lie on the floor. He did — right on top of the robbery alarm button. Officers arrived a few minutes later and arrested Robert Lee Jr., 28, and Robert H. Gordon Jr., 22, who were jailed without charge.

Looks to May on Tax Cut

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., says personal income taxes should be cut by 3 to 4 per cent if unemployment continues high in May. He told interviewers that if the recession continues to midsummer, then a public works program should be started and corporation taxes should be cut.

RECEIVE AWARDS — Members of Boy Scout Troop 20 of Hurley receive awards at a troop Court of Honor held this week at Hurley Firehouse. Participating are John Tweedy, James Barnett, Alan Pedersen, Gregory Hoffer, Steven LeFevre, Kenleigh Nelson, Dietrich Baum, John Henze, Vaughn Askue, James Roosa, assistant scoutmaster, and Vincent Crantz receiving an award from Scoutmaster Edward Sheldon. Hurley Scouts Hold First 1961 Court of Honor

Hurley Boy Scout Troop 20 held its first Court of Honor for 1961 this week at Hurley Firehouse.

Tenderfoot investiture ceremonies were conducted by James Roosa, assistant scoutmaster for Kenleigh Nelson, Steven LeFevre and Alan Pedersen.

Edward Sheldon, scoutmaster presented awards to Gregory Hoffer and Dietrich Baum, first class; John Henze, Citizenship in the Nation merit badge; Vincent Crantz, Wild Life Management and Swimming merit badges and also Star Scout; and Vaughn Askue, Star Scout.

Recognition was also given to the appointments of Gregory Hoffer as a patrol leader and Den chief in Cub Pack 20; James Barnett as assistant patrol leader, troop scribe, and den chief in Cub Pack 20; John Tweedy as assistant scribe, and Dietrich Baum as troop quartermaster.

Films were shown on Project Echo and the Boy Scout National Jamboree. Gordon Craig, district commissioner spoke on "The Meaning of Scouting to the Community." The troop's newly formed Mother's Auxiliary, under the leadership of Mrs. Oliver Tweedy, served refreshments.

12 Europeans Attacked by Lumumbists

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Twelve Europeans, including a woman and a 5-year-old child, were seized and beaten by 'rebellious Lumumba soldiers in Kivu Province today, the United Nations reported.

When they were released after a few hours' detention, the U.N. spokesman said, one of the men had a broken arm.

The incident was another of the isolated outbreaks of violence clouding the atmosphere of the Congo following the death of ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba, announced Monday.

A company of Congolese soldiers appeared yesterday at the airport in Stanleyville, the Lumumba stronghold, insisting that a plane full of Belgian paratroopers was about to land. Three Belgian priests were reported attacked by small bands of Lumumba partisans in the African sector of Leopoldville Wednesday night. One of them, identified as Father Joseph Stulens, was overpowered by three tribesmen and knifed.

In outbreaks so far there has been no evidence of planning or organization and acts of irate individuals have been persistently condemned by government and army authorities.

Gunman Flees After Woman's Kind Words

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A gunman fled a luncheonette empty-handed when an elderly woman said, "God bless you, son." Mrs. Mary Allen, 82, told police she was alone Wednesday in the luncheonette operated by her son when a youth with a pistol entered and ordered her to "get the money out of the drawer." Mrs. Allen looked at the bandit and said, "God bless you, son." The youth mumbled, "I was only fooling," and ran away.

Hollywood News, Views

AP Movie-TV Writer

TOKYO (AP) — Shirley MacLaine, wrapped in white mink, sat in the lobby bar of the Hotel Imperial and defended her crazy, mixed-up marriage.

She is weary of doing so. To her there is nothing unusual about having a career in Hollywood and a husband in Tokyo.

Others Find It Strange

But others find it strange. A news magazine recently termed her union with Steve Parker as "the oddest marriage in Hollywood." Her reaction to the story was to fling a pie in the face of the magazine's Tokyo correspondent.

"That story made me mad," she exclaimed with fire in her eye.

Shirley sees nothing odd in her marriage to Parker. She explained that he was involved in enterprises in Japan while she was working out a Hollywood contract. But she said that their relationship has not suffered, nor has their daughter, Stephanie. "I can name you 15 stars in Hollywood who see less of their children than I do," said Shirley. "When I am not working, she is with me all the time. Or when she is here with Steve, she goes with him everywhere, even on business appointments. What other child spends so much time with her father?"

Likes Geisha Routine

The Parkers' time and fortunes are now intermingled. Shirley is here to stay in "My Geisha," which is being produced and promoted by Steve Parker. Shirley is hepped up about the geisha routine, having spent some time at the school for geishas in Kyoto.

"American women — in fact, women of all other nations could learn some lessons from the geisha," she remarked. "The average Western person doesn't realize how talented these women are."

Doubts System for U.S.

"It appalls me that the average Western person thinks of the geisha as a prostitute. She isn't. She performs a very worthwhile function for the tired businessman. She listens to his problems, soothes him and talks to him understandably. Then he is ready to go home to his wife perfectly calm and happy. The wife appreciates this, and often she and the geisha are good friends."

If the system is so ideal, could it then be transported to a western community, say, Westport, Conn?

"Probably not," Shirley admitted, "because the American woman is not prepared to be any less than monogamous." Including, she could add, an American woman named Mrs. Steve Parker.

Dazzy Vance, 69, Hall of Famer, Dies in Florida

HOMOSASSA SPRINGS, Fla. (AP) — Clarence Arthur (Dazzy) Vance, 69, a member of baseball's Hall of Fame, died today at a hospital in this fishing resort community 100 miles north of Tampa. Vance, a right-hander, played in the major leagues for 18 years, most seasons wearing a Brooklyn Dodger uniform. He also pitched for the Pittsburgh Pirates, New York Yankees, St. Louis Cardinals and the Cincinnati Redlegs.

He had a career record of 197 victories and 140 losses. His big year was 1924 when he won 28 and lost 6 for Brooklyn.

Vance would have been 70 on March 4.

Vance was born in Orient, Iowa. He had lived at Homosassa Springs since 1925.

Survivors include the widow, Edith; two brothers, Fred of Gardena, Calif., and Wallace of Port Richey, Fla.; and a sister, Louise Reans of Omaha, Neb.

Boy, 15, Admits Killing of Girl

REDDING, Calif. (AP) — Sheriff John Balma said a boy admitted early today that he lured Vicki Lee Morris, 8, into a thicket and killed her on Valentine's Day.

Balma identified the boy as Wallace Mitchell Ford, 15, a neighbor of the dead girl.

Ford was booked on a suspicion of murder charge.

Balma said Ford signed a confession, admitting the slaying but claiming he did not remember striking the child.

The child's skull was smashed and a large rock was near her body, when it was found early Wednesday.

Ford told the sheriff he intended to rape the child but became frightened and didn't. Balma told newsmen a preliminary pathologist's report indicated the girl had not been raped.

Vicki Lee vanished Tuesday afternoon, after getting off the school bus on her way home.

When bloodhounds led searchers to her body, she still wore a lavender party dress. It was special — for the school Valentine party. Near her body was a bundle of valentines she had received.

Executives Pay Over Half of U. S. Fines

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Electrical companies and executives fined for violating antitrust laws have paid more than half of the $1,924,500 imposed last week by U. S. District Court Judge J. Cullen Ganey.

The amount of fines paid swelled above the 50 per cent mark Wednesday when $30,000 was received in U. S. District Court through registered mail and by attorneys.

The fines included $437,500 from General Electric Co.; $35,000 from the McGraw Edison Co., Elgin, Ill.; $65,000 from the Federal Electric Co., of Newark, N. J.; and $15,000 from the Lapp Insulator Co. Inc., Leroy, N. Y.
